

ALL THE NEWS, THAT'S FIT TO PRINT, ALL THE TIME

State Librarian

The Daily Republican.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT
THE DAILY REPUBLICAN

Vol. 8. No. 218.

Rushville, Indiana, Wednesday Evening, Nov. 22, 1911.

Single Copies, 2 Cents.

HAVE NOT FILED STATEMENTS

Candidates For Office in Recent Election Have Not Complied With Corrupt Practice Act.

SAME CONDITION OTHER PLACE

Opinion of Attorney General Said the Law Applied to Towns of Over Fifteen Hundred.

It is the general understanding over this as well as in other Indiana counties that all officers elected in the town elections two weeks ago have to comply with the provisions of the corrupt practice act passed by the last legislature. The statute provides that newly elected officers shall file with the clerk of the circuit court in the county in which they live a sworn statement of all of his expenses for the election and anything of value promised by him to obtain votes. The law is very stringent and states that this sworn statement shall be filed within a month after the election.

So far no officers elected in Carthage and Glenwood, the only two incorporated towns in Rush county, last Tuesday have filed such statements with the county clerk. The same condition exists in adjoining counties as newspapers have noted this fact.

But local attorneys say that it will not be necessary for the new officers in either one of the two Rush county towns to file such a sworn statement accounting for funds used in the election. They base their opinion on the fact that Thomas Honan, attorney-general of the State, returned an opinion just previous to the last election that this sworn statement as required by the corrupt practice act was not necessary in towns with a population of fifteen hundred or less.

Local attorneys say that the attorney general was questioned concerning this law shortly before last election day and he prepared that opinion hurriedly. The opinion will hold good, it is said, until the statute is tested by court.

It is a question as to what was the real intent of the law, according to most Rushville attorneys. The clerk of the circuit court and the deputy clerk understand that it will not be necessary for the newly elected officers in Carthage and Glenwood to file a sworn statement of money expended. They believe that the opinion of the attorney general will be regarded as final until some test suit is brought up in court and a decision is returned in regard to it.

The act is imperative as is shown by a part of it which is as follows:

Every candidate for public office, including the candidates for office of Senate of the United States within thirty days after the election or primary election, held to nominate for or fill such office or place, shall make out and file with the officer empowered by law to issue the certificate of election to such office or place and duplicate thereof, with the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which such candidate resides, a full, true and itemized statement in writing which statement and duplicate shall be subscribed and sworn to by such candidate before an officer authorized to administer oaths, setting forth in detail all money and other valuable things contributed, expended or promised by him to aid and to promote, or in any way in connection with his nomination or election, or both, as the case may be, or for other political purposes in connection with the election of other person at said election, and all existing unfulfilled promises or liabilities in that connection remaining uncancelled and in force at the time such statement is made, whether such expenditures, promises or liabilities were made or incurred before, during or after such election, and showing the dates when, the person to whom, and the purpose for whom each and all of said sums or valuable things were paid, expended or promised or said liabilities incurred.

Any person violating or failing to comply with any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $300, nor more than $2,000, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both fined and imprisoned, in the discretion of the court.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO LUCINDA WEIR

Wife of John Weir, Age 56, Dies at Her Home After Two Weeks' Illness.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW

Mrs. Lucinda Weir, age fifty-six years, wife of John Weir, died at 6:15 o'clock last evening at her home south of New Salem after a two weeks' illness with pneumonia. Mrs. Weir was well known in the New Salem neighborhood and her death was a great shock to her many friends.

Besides a husband she is survived by three children, Jeremy and the Misses May and Goldie. Short services will be held at the late residence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock after which the cortege will move to the Laurel Christian church, where the Rev. M. G. Long will conduct the funeral services. Burial will take place in the church cemetery.

J. WALTER WILSON TO GIVE READING

Local Impersonator Will Appear in Costume at Christmas Carnival

Benefit Show at Portola.

WILL BE THURSDAY NIGHT

The first of the series of benefit motion picture shows which will be given at the Portola theater tomorrow night, promises to be an entertainment of merit. The theater management plans to give the public more than its money's worth for the ten cents that will be charged. A special program of three reels of pictures will be shown and J. Walter Wilson will appear on the program in a special monologue number. He will give Riley's "Tadin Joe" and will dress in an appropriate costume. Fifty per cent of the proceeds will be donated to the Rushville Retail Merchants Association to be used in decorating the downtown streets for the Christmas carnival which will be held before and during the holidays.

AND STILL ANOTHER.

Milroy Press: Miss Adda Thomas met with a serious mishap Sunday morning while driving into town for church services. She was accompanied by her nieces, Jeanette and Pauline Thomas, and as they were on a grade near W. T. Hareourt's house the horse scared and upset the buggy breaking it up a little. Fortunately the occupants escaped injury.

CITY COUNCIL FAILED TO MEET

Moore and Kelly Were Only Councilmen Present and Regular Session Was Postponed.

WILL CONVEENE AGAIN TONIGHT

Employees Are Disappointed Because They Had Two Weeks' Wages Coming.

The city council did not meet last night, due to the fact that a quorum was not present. Councilmen Moore and Kelley were the only two on the job and as it is necessary to have three present the meeting was called off. The other three members of the council were evidently enjoying a holiday or taking a vacation for the city clerk found by the use of the telephone that the absent councilmen were all out of the city.

Councilman Newhouse was in Indianapolis witnessing a performance of "Over the River" at the English theater. Dr. Parsons was also in Indianapolis and did not get back in time for the meeting. O. C. Norris was in Connersville alleged to have been attending the Eastern Star meeting, but local members say he was not there so it is supposed he was selling fertilizer to some Fayette county lamp-light. City Clerk Cauley was told Mr. Norris would be home by eleven o'clock, but Mayor Black and the other members couldn't see the joke. About the worst disappointed man there was Tom Cauley. He went hunting yesterday and missed a big country supper in order to be at the council meeting. He had to hurry to get here on time and only had a sandwich for his evening meal.

The failure of the council to meet caused many disappointments among the city employees as the city owes all of them two weeks' pay. The city treasurer's office was kept busy all day by men calling for their pay checks only to be told by Gurney Cohee that there was nothing doing. The city saved about $1,800 for the time being by not being able to allow the claims.

Mayor Black issued a call for a special meeting tonight when the business of last night will be transacted.

NO LOSS ON APPLE SHOW

Indiana Horticultural Society is Well Pleased With Result.

The apple show commission of the Indiana Horticultural Society which had charge of the recent apple show in Indianapolis, held a meeting at the Claypool hotel yesterday to find out "where it was at." E. R. Smith, the president of the commission, said that while all the donations and contributions had not been received and some bills were still out, enough was known to show that the commission would come out even financially on the show. He said the commission was well pleased with the result, because it showed that Indiana could give an apple show, and that it could beat Michigan at this game, although Michigan had $12,000 to spend on its show.

THE WEATHER

Unsettled weather. Probably rain tonight or Thursday. Warmer tonight. Colder in north portion on Thursday.

COURT DISPOSED OF SEVERAL CASES

Judge Blair Fined Cyrus Barrett of Near Knightstown For Not Burying Diseased Hogs.

HENRY MAURER GIVEN $5,047.50

Boring Divorce Suit Was Dismissed—Osborne Murder Trial Will Strat in Morning.

Judge Alonzo Blair disposed of several cases today at his first day on the bench of the December term of the circuit court. Cyrus C. Barrett of near Knightstown, who was arrested on a grand jury indictment for failure to bury diseased hogs appeared before the court and pleaded guilty. He was fined five dollars and costs. The indictment was returned against Barrett by the last grand jury.

In the case of Henry Maurer vs. Hyatt L. Frost, administrator of the estate of Margaret Shields, deceased, on a claim demanding $10,000, Maurer was allowed $5,047.50. The case was sent to this county from Fayette county on a change of venue.

The partition and quiet title suit of Lola Wright Connelly vs. William A. Allen et al., was dismissed and the costs paid.

The suit for divorce of Mary Boring against Frank Boring was dismissed on a motion by the plaintiff. Mrs. Boring asked for alimony and the custody of their child.

Judge Blair returned to his home in Shelbyville this afternoon but before court adjourned arranged for the starting tomorrow morning of the trial of W. H. Osborne charged with manslaughter. Osborne is alleged to have killed Rupert Christman while acting as constable in a justice of peace court in Connersville. The case was sent here on a change of venue.

POLISHED RICE AND PECANS UNDER BAN

Chief Chemist Barnard of the State Health Board Says Foodstuffs Must be Labeled.

SUCKERS FOUND IN THE NORTH

H. E. Barnard, chief chemist of the State board of health, is formulating two new rules concerning handling of foodstuffs. One is to provide that where rice is artificially coated with tae or glucose, it must be labeled "polished rice," with printed instructions on the bag that it must be thoroughly washed before cooking.

The other rule will direct that persons selling polished and coated products must set forth the fact properly. There pecans, according to Mr. Barnard, are coated and polished in order to make an inferior quality look attractive. Most of the pecans sold in Indiana, he said, are of inferior quality. Many of them were picked green, he said, and artificially ripened.

"In the South, where the pecan is raised, a merchant could not sell a polished nut," he said. "The polished ones are sent north where the people do not know what a good pecan is."

One of England's most eminent physicians has advanced the theory that the increase in the number of cases of appendicitis in recent years is due to modern methods of grinding wheat.

LOCAL FARMERS PLAN TO ATTEND

Rush County Tillers of Soil Will Take Advantage of Short Course At Shelbyville.

WILL BE HELD JAN. 25 to 27

Great Array of Stock Will be Shown in Special Car—Lectures on Stock.

D. O. Thompson of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Purdue University Experiment station, is busy arranging matters for the Farmers' Short Course to be held at Shelbyville on Jan. 25 to 27, 1912.

There is every reason to believe that many Rush county farmers will attend the short course. The close proximity of this county to Shelby insures a large attendance from this county.

It will interest those who expect to attend the course, to know that Mr. Thompson states that the stock to be shown in the special car this year will be far greater in value than any heretofore shown.

Chief among the cattle to be shown in the car will be the steer Benefactor, which was recently purchased from Thomson Brothers, prominent Kansas cattle dealers. This steer has taken a leading place in cattle shows ever since a calf and during the early part of October, this year, captured the prize as champion steer at the Royal Live Stock exhibition at Kansas City.

Mr. Thompson will also secure a choice feeder steer and three fat burrows, and while he has not yet definitely decided to take along a pure bred mare, he is making every effort to secure a suitable one. If this is found, the department will no doubt add it to the already extensive stock of animals at Purdue.

Several Indiana sheep breeders are offering the use of some prize animals so that a pen of bred sheep may be taken along, but arrangements in this respect are as yet only tentative.

Lectures on the judging, feeding and maintenance of horses, cattle, sheep or hogs are included in the programs of the Short Courses and Mr. Thompson is to have with him a large supply of the bulletin on "Live Stock Judging for Beginners," recently issued by the department, and these will be distributed among the students taking the Animal Husbandry work.

Other departments are preparing for the Short Course work and the program will far excel any heretofore offered to Indiana farmers.

HAS CLEW TO ROBBERY

Big Four Detective is Working on the Recent Milroy Theft.

The Big Four detective who was in and Milroy three days last week working on the robbery case of last Wednesday night at the station informed Agent Joe Michael that he has several clews as to the work. He found the overcoat which was taken, just north of Williamstown station. He says that he knows where the mischief is originating although he has not sufficient evidence to convict the guilty party, but is still on the case, and says it has to be stopped as the company does not intend to put up with such pilfering.

WANTS $250 ALIMONY

Florence Taylor Files Suit For Divorce From Pearl Taylor.

Florence Taylor brought suit for divorce in the Rush circuit court yesterday afternoon from her husband, Pearl Taylor. She makes the usual charge of cruel and inhuman treatment in the complaint. Mrs. Taylor demands also two hundred and fifty dollars alimony. The Taylors live at 402 West First street. Mr. Taylor is employed at the Norris garage.

COLLISION VICTIMS FAST IMPROVING

Men in Auto Hit by I. & C. Traction Car in Connersville Will Recover.

MR. SHERRY SUFFERS MOST

Luther Sherry and his brother-in-law, Howard Hunt, who were the principal victims in the automobile and trolley car collision at the corner of Seventh street and Western avenue Saturday evening were both better Tuesday. Mr. Sherry is very sore, as was to be expected, from the bruising he received, and had considerable fever throughout the day as a result of internal hurts. He is improving, however, and his physicians see nothing in the way of his steady progress to complete recovery.

Young Hunt, who grew worse Monday afternoon, and whose condition it was feared, for a time, would prove to be even worse than that of Mr. Sherry, grew better later in the evening and passed a very comfortable night, considering his injuries. He rested well Tuesday and is expected to be well of his injuries in a short time.

WAS SMARTEST MAN IN INSANE ASYLUM

Joe Bowles Recently Released From Madiscn Hospital, Says Superintendent Complimented Him.

HE'S READY TO CAMPAIGN NOW

Imagine yourself being the smartest man in an insane asylum! But that's what Joe Bowles, the Center township orator and spellbinder, says he was. Joe was released from the southeastern hospital for the insane at Madison recently and Joe comes to Rushville just as often as he ever did to talk of the politics of Lincoln and the religion of Moses.

"The superintendent of the asylum told me I was the smartest man of the six hundred who have been in the place," says Joe. "So you can see that I haven't lost my faculties yet. One of my sons says I am crazy and they are trying to kick me out and take the farm which belongs to me and my wife, but I'm not crazy yet." Joe is a familiar character about town. He lives on a farm in Center township and whenever he wishes to come to Rushville he sets out and walks to the city, a distance of six or seven miles. And he declares he is past eighty years old. Although Joe's campaign speeches and his addresses on religion are somewhat stereotyped, they contain some high sounding phrases and Joe can nearly always attract a crowd.

HIS WRESTLING BETRAYED HIM

George Conrad Might Not Have Been Firing Power Plant Had he Been Adept.

RAN OFF TO WAR AT AGE OF 16

Comrade Home on Furlough Mentions Him as Wrestler and Parents Locate Him Before Battle.

George Conrad would probably not have been shoveling coal into the furnace at the county power plant near the jail where the steam is made that heats the jail and the court house, had his parents not intervened and taken him out of the army during the civil war when he was a mere lad of sixteen years. George is the fireman at the power plant.

When the civil war broke out George had the fight bug right, he says, even though he was only thirteen years old. He was large for his age and in 1864 he could not resist the temptation any longer. So he ran away. For four long months his parents mourned his loss, supposing that he had run off to war and had been killed.

George was some wrestler and he threw about every man in his regiment. One of the men from the regiment went back on a furlough to his town during the war and mentioned the name of George Conrad after he had been trying some of the local boys at wrestling. He recalled George as the best man—for the mere boy that he was—that he had ever seen.

Well, the boys in George's town had a clew for their long lost George. Straightway they went to George's parents who investigated. They found from the man who was off on a furlough that George was in a certain regiment which was then in camp at Munfordville, Kentucky.

George's father and a relative of his went to Governor Morton and received a permit to take George from the army. They went to Munfordville, Kentucky, found George and brought him back home where they watched him from morning until night.

"But if I had ever known my father was on my trail," declares George to this day, "I would have left that camp very suddenly. They slipped up on me and brought me back home after I had been in the service only four months. My regiment was just preparing to march to Vicksburg, where the memorable battle was fought. I would not have missed that battle for anything and I would have been there if my father had not arrived when he did."

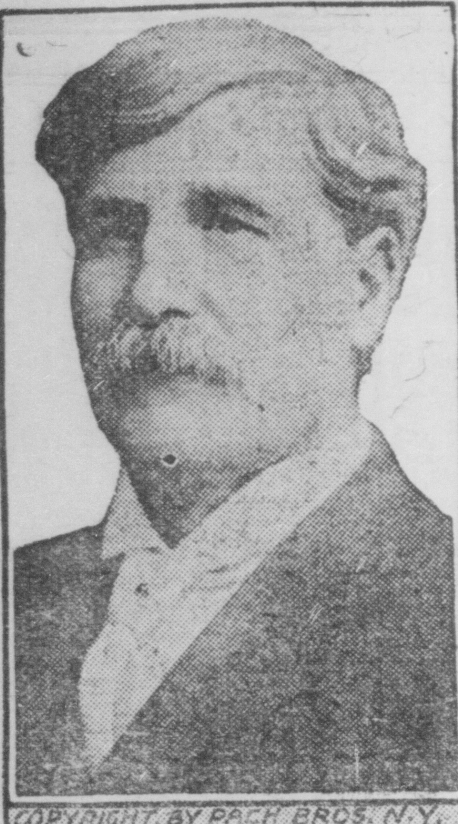

But if George had ever been in the battle of Vicksburg, it is very likely that he would not be shoveling in the coal that makes the steam that keeps the county officials so warm and nice these chilly days.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

An act of incendiary was reported from near Morristown Monday evening that resulted in the destruction of a big straw stack on the farm of Harry Walker, half a mile east of the town. A neighbor of Mr. Walker while hurrying to warn him of danger saw a man running through a corn field near the stack and the stranger is believed to be responsible for the blaze. Considerable trouble was experienced in keeping Mr. Walker's barn and other buildings from being destroyed on account of the fire.

REV. F. T. GATES

Rockefeller's Almoner Involved in a Big Western Railway Deal.

THIRTEENTH VICTIM OF JACK THE RIPPER

Atlanta Negroes Thrown Into a State of Terror.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 22.—The remains of a comely yellow girl, her throat cut from ear to ear, her heart cut out and lying by her side, and otherwise terribly mutilated, was found in an alley leading off one of the principal streets of Atlanta, the thirteenth victim of Jack the Ripper, the second within a week.

This latest victim was more horribly mutilated than any of the others of the ripper's large list of unsolved crimes. Not only did the murderer cut the woman's head off and remove her heart, but he knocked out her teeth and disemboweled her.

The ripper's twelfth victim was found a week ago not far from the scene of the latest crime. The ripper has been operating in Atlanta for several months, and in every case he has selected a comely negro girl.

All the victims have been mutilated in a similar manner and in some cases the index finger of the right hand has been removed. So far the detectives are without a clue. The negroes of Atlanta are in a state of terror.

Believed to Have Been Murdered.
South Bend, Ind., Nov. 22.—The body of a well dressed man was found on a farm near here. A revolver, with one empty chamber, was found near the body. A small amount of money was in the pockets, but a large wallet had been rifled. The man had been dead about a week, and it is believed he was killed by robbers.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Fire in the Hotel Denton, Nassau, N. H., caused the death of three men by suffocation.

In his flight from California to New York Aviator Robert Fowler is today at Abilene, Tex.

Thanksgiving pardons have been issued to forty-five penitentiary convicts by Governor Colquitt of Texas.

It is stated at St. Petersburg that Russia will insist on the resignation of W. Morgan Shuster as treasurer general of Persia.

The Italian government has authorized an extraordinary expenditure of $65,000,000 to cover the cost of the war until the end of November.

The Constantinople newspapers profess to have news which enables them to predict once more that Tripoli will shortly be retaken by the Turks.

The American Federation of Labor refused to adopt a resolution asking President Gompers and other officials to resign from the National Civic Federation.

Sarah Bernhardt indignantly denies the report that she is about to marry a twenty-six-year-old Flemish actor who has been playing subordinate parts in her company.

Lafayette Choate pleaded guilty at Liberty, Mo., to the charge of having tied his wife to a harrow with which he was working, and was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

Two caretakers at St. Marks museum at Florence, from which Fra Angelico's painting of the Madonna of the Star was stolen, and a cab driver have been arrested in connection with the theft.

Militant suffragists in London, in order to attract attention to their demands for votes for women, armed themselves with hammers and started on a window smashing raid of the Strand, doing a large amount of damage.

Wright Brothers, aviation promoters, are defendants in damage suits resulting from an accident at the Wisconsin state fair in 1910. Two women who were struck by a falling aeroplane demand damages in the sum of $25,000 each.

Finest Virtue of Xmas Season
Is Practice of Shopping Early

The best thing about Christmas is that it gives us a chance to air some of the virtues which we keep stored away the rest of the year. We are all accustomed to being unselfish and charitable and happy at Christmas time or pretending that we are. This year a new virtue is offered which will show whether the old-fashioned ones were pretenses. This new virtue is common sense and in promises a Christmas of universal good cheer. It guarantees that the clerks and even the delivery men will have a chance to enjoy Christmas. It promises that people will be satisfied with what they give and may even be satisfied with what they get.

The merchants are the first to display the sign of the common sense Christmas. The stores are ready and it is time for the people to begin practicing their new virtue by buying their Christmas gifts now. It is easy enough. All you have to do is to put on your hat and go downtown and get what you wish. Indeed, it is so simple and so obviously sensible that it may not appeal to many people. You may prefer the rush and excitement and nerve racking stampede that you have enjoyed so many years. But meanwhile some wiser women may get the only doll you want for Mary and the very pair of socks you would have chosen for William.

Perhaps you like to make a list of the things you are going to buy for everybody. If you do and if you wish to buy things according to the list, it is all right, provided you go and buy them now, while you have time to choose and a variety from which to choose. If you wish to have a real good time Christmas, however, throw your list away and go downtown and smile at the clerks and surprise yourself with the things you find which are exactly what you wished, but of which you never could have thought by yourself.

The wonder is that anybody can keep away from the stores. The merchants have not only used common sense in getting their stores ready early, but common sense is shown in the choice of goods displayed. For those who can afford to give extravagant gifts, the art and industry of Japan, China, India, Egypt, the tropical islands and all the countries of Europe have produced articles of every description. Dresden china is especially popular this season and many new designs are shown. Sheffield silver, cut glass, with silver inlaid; after dinner coffee sets in baskets, French bric-a-brac of all descriptions, wicker baskets with Dresden trimmings, smoked Bamboo baskets from China, trays made from old embroideries, Russian and English chinawares, Mexican and Indian baskets from and endless array of things that are useful and beautiful and which vary in price to meet the wants of everybody.

The tendency is still to imitate old-fashioned things. One novelty shown is a tiny old-fashioned sewing case made of wood, with little drawers and a framework for spools of thread. The furniture is old-fashioned, too, and there is an interesting variety of small tables, among them the "tuck away" table. Special lines of Christmas rugs are shown, the small Persian rugs being particularly suitable for gifts.

For those who can not afford or do not choose to buy foreign made bric-a-brac, the linen counters offer gifts of practical value and of unusual beauty. Dutch lunch sets are new this year. They are made of German linen and embroidered in blue and red figures with the cloth and napkins to match.

"Everybody is buying towels," one clerk said. "We have towels in all color and sizes. You can make them yourselves or get them already embroidered. One woman has bought fourteen of these big Turkish bath towels. She crochets a fringe for the edge of them and puts initials on them." The dress goods department has waist and dress patterns all arranged in gift boxes and it would not be possible to make a mistake in giving a gift of this sort. The choice in gloves, stockings and handkerchiefs is endless. These can be found too at low prices, the handkerchief sales offering opportunities to buy them many gifts for small sums of money.

The jewelry business is not as good as it used to be. The present style of women's dress seems to have dealt a severe blow to the jewelry business. They would rather have bags than brooches. And every woman who wants a bag surely ought to have one, for there are probably several hundred varieties. Some of them come from Vienna and are made of tiny beads, the color marvelously intermingled in intricate and beautiful designs. A few of these sell for a little less than a hundred dollars, but it is possible to buy pretty bags of all colors and sizes for a few dollars.

Another fad is for Persian ivory toilet articles. These are made of a composition of celluloid which is of excellent quality. Sets of this near-ivory will make popular gifts. One of the most attractive displays is of Bohemian glassware. This is imported and comes in novel designs, but is being sold at low prices.

"Nobody knows what becomes of the ash trays we sell," one merchant said. "Why, we sell them by the bushel. Couldn't begin to say how many, but we sell more than one for every man in Indianapolis."

The best thing to see and the best thing to buy is, of course, toys. Christmas is the children's time. Every nation in the world produces wonderful things for the children. Animals crowd the shelves, waiting expectantly to be taken home somewhere and loved and pulled to pieces. Monkeys turn somersaults, a little gray cat runs around, waving her tail and crying like a real cat; a mocking bird sings in a cage, and a rabbit pops out of a head of cabbage.

Men's work is children's play. The clerks say that the boys always like trains better than anything else. They like ships too, and automobiles and aeroplanes and milk wagons and grocery stores. And the girls like kitchens and they have them, too. Kitchens have sinks with faucets and stoves with fires, tables, cabinets, dishes and everything that causes their mothers endless work and trouble.

The one special feature of this Christmas, however, which distinguishes it from all others, is the army of dolls. The dolls are just like people—all sorts of people. There are cross dolls and smiling dolls and old dolls and young dolls and dolls from all over the world. They are made of wood of celluloid, or china or wax or cloth. Most of them are made in Europe but their clothes are made in America and are just like person's clothes. They come in sizes made to correspond with the size of the doll. If you prefer to make the clothes you may buy patterns, dress goods and hats. The doll millinery stores are complete with counters, shelves and all kinds of boquets.

Another thing which many buy for the children is books. Each year books for children are more beautifully illustrated and more attractive. The stores where books and pictures are found are more interesting to many people than any others.

The desire to make people happy at Christmas time is the reason for giving presents. The truth is that we get our own pleasure out of what we give and it is going to be possible this year for us to get a lot more pleasure than ever before. We do not have to wait until two weeks or a week before Christmas. We can begin today or tomorrow. There are many advantages in early buying. The advantages to the clerks can only be appreciated by one who has stood on trial, aching feet during the long hours. The advantages to the horses and the delivery men can hardly be estimated. These men and horses can easily take care of the Christmas shopping if it is begun now. They can only do so by hours of weariness and suffering if it is postponed. The advantages to the shoppers can be appreciated by any one. Competent clerks, who know their business, a variety of goods to choose from, and time in selecting are the advantages of shopping now.

Bad Feet Made
Well For 10c

Doesn't matter what you've tried for sore, aching, sweaty feet—Plex, "the quick-healing salve," will cure them in a hurry, and a good sized box of it costs only 10 cents. Also removes corns—gives you sound feet.

Plex is a wonder-working, penetrating ointment that destroys germs, cleans and heals quicker than any other remedy you ever used, and it has a hundred uses in every home.

One application cures itching piles. A few applications conquer eczema, or eradicate dandruff. Repairs sore, stiff muscles like magic. Cures croup and sore throat. Fine for catarrh. Splendid for headache. Unequaled for cuts, burns, etc.

Plex (10c) is the biggest household bargain you ever heard of. Your druggist has it or can easily get it for you. Sent prepaid on receipts of price by the O. C. Co., Terre Haute, Ind.

Will Raise Fund to Solve the Knabe Mystery.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—If they can raise sufficient funds to do so, women of Indianapolis are formulating a plan to employ the best detectives in the country to solve the Knabe murder mystery. Prominent women have already discussed the matter and have mentioned $5,000 as a probable minimum for the fund with which they ought to start upon such an undertaking.

Once the movement is under headway the women will increase the fund by subscriptions from everyone who is interested in bringing the slayer of Dr. Helene Knabe to justice, and they hope that the amount will reach at least $10,000.

The matter will be presented to the board of directors of the Local Council of Women. Likewise the raising of the fund will be discussed fully in the next meeting of the Women's Franchise league. The board of the franchise league pondered it in its last meeting and several of the members are said to be in favor of immediate action. Leading women in the two organizations are disgusted with the lack of definite action so far among the authorities in the solution of the crime. If a big fund is secured it will be to put on salary in this city the cream of the nation's human ferreters of crime.

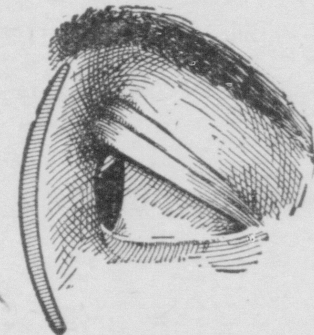

Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

MISSING.

Connersville News: It is reported from Glenwood that William Winship has mysteriously disappeared from his home in that village. He has a wife and little daughter who it is said are totally in the dark as to his whereabouts. Winship's father is cashier of the Rushville National bank. He disappeared several days ago.

Mrs. John Alexander Dowie recently started a new Dowie movement in Chicago. It is reported that she will establish a new Zion City.

Miss C. M. Sweitzer
OPTICIAN

On account of the large increase in business I find it impracticable to leave my office for outside work.

To all wishing to avail themselves of my services, I shall allow the price of fare from Rushville to Richmond, one way.

My SERVICE and EQUIPMENT is the Best.

My specialties are KRYPTOK and TORIC LENSES.

My PRICES for glasses are REASONABLE.

Make an appointment so that I can reserve the time for you between trains.

Miss C. M. Sweitzer
OPTOMETRIST

Automatic Phone 1099
927½ Main St. Richmond, Ind.

It's Funny What A Little Thing Will Do

As sung by GRACE LA RUE Starring in

SAM S. and LEE SHUBERT'S Production

"MADAME TROUBADOUR"

Words by WILL A. HEELAN

Music by SEYMOUR FURTH

Sheet music for "It's Funny What A Little Thing Will Do" featuring Grace La Rue. The music is in 2/4 time and includes lyrics such as "It's fun - ny how a lit - tle thing will cause a lot of", "troub - le", "What com - pli - ca - tions it will bring...", "To You'd", "make your troub - les doub - le, 'Twould fan love's flame, I down", "bet - ter work him doub - le, Just bring the kid", "had here no doubt, In - stead & seems that I fanned out, It's", "It's", "stand came sweet vows brok - en by this ti - ny lit - tle thing, night.", "poco a poco rall.", "Copyright, MCMX, by SEYMOUR FURTH Music Pub. Co., 1416 Broadway, New York International Copyright Secured Used by permission, MURRAY MUSIC Co., New York No. 248.

Sheet music for "It's Funny What A Little Thing Will Do" featuring Grace La Rue. The music is in 2/4 time and includes lyrics such as "It's fun - ny how a lit - tle thing will cause a lot of", "troub - le", "What com - pli - ca - tions it will bring...", "To You'd", "make your troub - les doub - le, 'Twould fan love's flame, I down", "bet - ter work him doub - le, Just bring the kid", "had here no doubt, In - stead & seems that I fanned out, It's", "It's", "stand came sweet vows brok - en by this ti - ny lit - tle thing, night.", "poco a poco rall.", "Copyright, MCMX, by SEYMOUR FURTH Music Pub. Co., 1416 Broadway, New York International Copyright Secured Used by permission, MURRAY MUSIC Co., New York No. 248.

Daily Markets

Indianapolis Grain and Livestock.
Wheat—Wagon, 95c; No. 2 red, 95½c. Corn—No. 3, 64½c. Oats—No. 3 white, 49c. Hay—Baled, $20.00 @ 22.00; timothy, $22.00 @ 24.00; mixed, $18.00 @ 20.00. Cattle—$3.00 @ 8.25. Hogs—$5.00 @ 6.50. Sheep—$2.00 @ 3.25. Lambs—$3.50 @ 4.75. Receipts—16,000 hogs; 1,400 cattle; 600 sheep.

At Cincinnati.
Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.00. Corn—No. 2, 75½c. Oats—No. 2, 50½c. Cattle—$3.25 @ 6.75. Hogs—$3.50 @ 6.45. Sheep—$1.50 @ 3.25. Lambs—$3.00 @ 5.25.

At Chicago.
Wheat—No. 2 red, 99c. Corn—No. 2, 76c. Oats—No. 2, 49½c. Cattle—steers, $4.00 @ 9.10; stockers and feeders, $3.25 @ 5.75. Hogs—$6.00 @ 6.55. Sheep—$2.25 @ 3.80. Lambs—$3.75 @ 5.65.

At St. Louis.
Wheat—No. 2 red, 97½c. Corn—No. 2, 76½c. Oats—No. 2, 48½c. Cattle—steers, $5.00 @ 9.15. Hogs—$4.00 @ 6.50. Sheep—$2.25 @ 3.80. Lambs—$3.50 @ 5.80.

Theo. H. Reed & Son are paying the following prices for grain—today, November 22, 1911:

Wheat91c
Corn54c
Oats42c
Timothy Seed$6.00 to $7.00
Clover Seed$10.00 to $11.00

The following are the ruling prices of the Rushville market, corrected to date—November 22, 1911:

POULTRY.

Hens on foot, per pound7c
Turkeys14c
Ducks8c
Geese, per pound7c
Chickens8c

PRODUCE.

Eggs, per dozen31c
Butter, country, per pound17c

Suggestive Questions

On the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Press-Bible Question Class.

(Copyright 1910 by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

Nov. 26th, 1911.

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)
Nehemiah's Prayer. Nehemiah I.
Golden Text—The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. James v:16.

(1.) Verses 1-3—Who was Nehemiah?

(2.) Where was Shushan?

(3.) What had probably caused the distress of these Jews who were then in their own country?

(4.) By whom and when had the wall of Jerusalem been broken down?

(5.) Verse 4—Would you say Nehemiah did the wisest thing to first give himself up to weeping, to fasting, and to prayer? Give your reasons.

(6.) When the church is in great need, or the nation in calamity, or we have sore family or business trouble, how much do prayer and fasting avail?

(7.) Two good men of equal ability and opportunity, one of them precedes every new enterprise with days of special prayer, the other starts right at the work and prays as he goes; which will likely have the greater success and why?

(8.) Verses 5-6—Is it helpful or necessary, in private prayer to select choice language, to tell God of His greatness and goodness, and to be as careful of our oral composition as if it were to appear in print? Give your reasons.

(9.) Is it probable that many devout people stir their own hearts more, and give God a clearer presentation of their needs in vocal prayer, in company with other devout people, than by their private prayers, and if so why is it?

(10.) What is the benefit of sustained or repeated prayer, for the same thing?

(11.) Verse 7—In what particulars had these Jews specially sinned?

(12.) Is it the duty of all of us to confess national sins, and if so what is the benefit?

(13.) What are our chief national sins which we should confess to God, and should we pray for them to cease?

(14.) Verses 8-9—Is it our duty, or in what way is it helpful, to remind God of his promises?

(15.) When God brings calamity upon a people, or an individual, for wrong doing, is it meant by God as a bane or a blessing? Why?

(16.) What would be the result if God rewarded us for wrong doing?

(17.) When does God do away with, or prevent the natural consequences of our sins?

(18.) When God forgives us, on repentance, what is included in such pardon?

(19.) Should those who have been saved from their sins and have become the loyal children of God, confess sins on general principles, even if they are not conscious of having sinned?

(20.) Verse 10—Is there reason to think that a backslidden church is in precisely the same relation to God as so many sinners in the world?

(21.) Verse 11—What influence did this prayer have upon Nehemiah's request to the king?

(22.) What proof have you that prayers for specific things are answered to-day? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Lesson for Sunday, Dec. 3, 1911.
Nehemiah Rebuilds the Wall of Jerusalem. Neh. iv.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days.

Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

Good Housekeepers Use the Best

That's why they use Red Cross ball blue. At leading grocers, 5

HAPPY RESULTS

Have Made Many Rushville Residents

Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Rushville citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Rushville Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Jacob Roth, West First street, R. F. D. No. 4, Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been a standard remedy in my family for the past two years and I am firmly convinced that there is no kidney medicine on the market equal to them. We have taken Doan's Kidney Pills time and time again and they have never failed to give relief from kidney and bladder trouble. I have such great faith in the curative powers of this preparation that I never fail to speak a good word for it when I hear anyone complaining of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

'POLIO' CAUSES SIXTEEN DEATHS

During October Thirty-Two Cases of Poliomyelitis Are Reported to State Board of Health.

SOME ORIGINATE EARLIER

Fatal Cases Restricted to Children Under 13—Youngest 4 Months, Oldest 12½ Years.

Sixteen deaths from poliomyelitis were reported to the State Board of Health in October, probably more than ever before in the history of the State for one month. Although only thirty cases of the disease were reported during the month, Dr. W. E. King, assistant secretary of the board asserts that the death rate does not mean that 50 per cent of all the cases reported ended in death.

He says the disease is cumulative as regards the death reports from it and that several of the cases which resulted in death in October originated in previous months. At least three of the deaths resulting in October were due to cases originating in July.

"The longer an epidemic of poliomyelitis runs, the larger the death rate grows," Dr. King said recently. "The September cases reported to us were thirty-six in number, while the number of deaths reported did not reach the October total."

A new breeding place for the disease has sprung into prominence, according to Dr. King. The "pocket" of the State now harbors a well developed epidemic and earlier in the year, that district was practically free from the paralysis. The reports of cases from the district began to come into the State board's office at the State house early in October.

Two of the deaths in October were reported from Gibson county, two from Marion county, two from Vanderburg county, and one each from Dearborn, Howard, Kosciusko, Franklin, Hancock, Laporte, Orange, Putnam, Tippecanoe and Warren counties.

The deaths were restricted entirely to children less than 13 years old. The youngest child whose death was reported as due to infantile paralysis was 4 months old and the eldest was 12 years and 9 months old.

Auto For Sale.

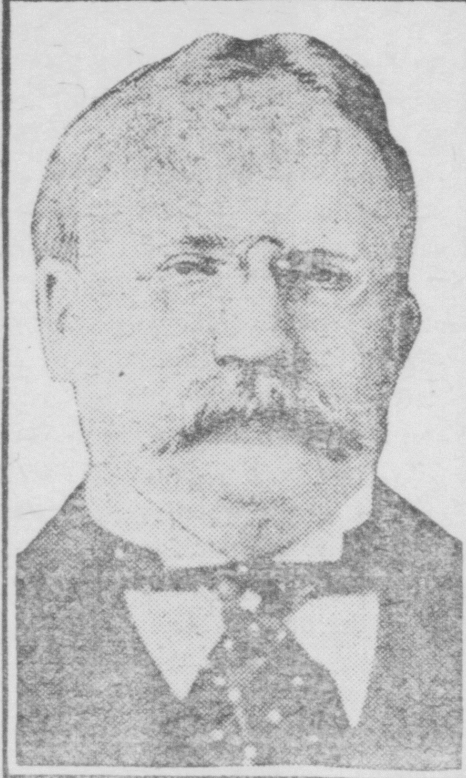

A new 5-passenger automobile, 1912 model, for sale at an attractive price. Call on Charles Caldwell, or phone 1473.

For pains in the side or chest dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's ointment and bind it on over the seat of pain. There is nothing better. For sale by All Dealers.

Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

DR. WALTER WYMAN

Surgeon General of the U. S. Army Is Dead at Washington.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Walter Wyman, surgeon general of the United States public health and marine hospital service since 1902, and a member of that service since 1876, is dead after suffering for more than a month from a carbuncle on his face. Dr. Wyman was a native of St. Louis and sixty-three years old. He had never married.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY DECLINES DICTATION

Yuan Shih Kai's Suggestions Are Disregarded.

Peking, Nov. 22.—Progress in the settlement of China's troubles is retarded by the struggle for ascendancy between monarchists and republicans. Yuan Shih Kai continues unabated in his advocacy of a monarchy and seems to be drifting toward a conflict with the national assembly. He is carrying out plans to repress the Yangtze rebels, and is sending Manchurian soldiery to the south, notwithstanding the opposition of the assembly to a continuance of the fighting. The assembly is further aggrieved by Yuan absenting himself from the sessions of that body, none of which he has attended since he became premier. It is said that he means to attend the meetings during this week and try to convince the members that safety lies only in his own plan, but it is reported that he is awaiting information from English experts whom he employed to define the premier's position in accordance with English constitutional practice.

Meantime the national assembly has decided not to take any dictation from Yuan in regard to the form of the future government of China, and has formally approved the proposal for a national convention to decide if it shall be a monarchy or a republic.

PLEADED GUILTY

Four Hoosiers Sentenced For Crimes Against the Postoffice.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—Arthur A. Finney, postmaster at Valparaiso; Frank Garr, postmaster at Herbst; L. E. Dennis, assistant postmaster at Crawfordsville; Charles G. Boaz, former railway mail transfer clerk at the Indianapolis union station, charged with embezzlement, and William A. Gant, writer of "Black Hand" letters to Henry S. Adams of Fortville, were sentenced to the government prison at Leavenworth by Judge Anderson, in federal court. In each case there was a plea of guilty and the term of imprisonment was fixed at two years.

President, Preparing Message.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Though Mr. Taft is kept within doors by doctor's order, he is able to accomplish a great deal of work in his study in the White House. The president's advisers met him in his study for the weekly cabinet meeting. This is the first time in eight years, since the building of the executive office, that the necessity of a president has compelled the cabinet to meet in the White House. Mr. Taft worked with the cabinet over his coming message for two or three hours.

Perished Night of Blizzard.

Rochester, Ind., Nov. 22.—The dead body of James Henderson, aged fifty, was found in a corn shock on a farm at the edge of Grass creek. Henderson had been missing since the night of Nov. 11, when Fulton county was visited by a blizzard. Henderson is believed to have sought the shelter of the corn shock during the storm and to have frozen to death while sleeping.

He Took It Too Seriously.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 22.—Harry F. Forbes, iron manufacturer and banker, who is a millionaire, went to the Michigan-Pennsylvania game at Ann Arbor and rooted so hard for his alma mater that he was taken with an acute seizure. Physicians brought him home here, but they could do little for him, and he died a victim, the doctors say, of over-strenuous rooting.

HOW IT IS DONE IN WALL STREET

Entertaining Story of a Bit of Easy Money.

JOHN D. THE BENEFICIARY

At Least That Is the Way This "Simple Lumberjack" Tells It to Stanley Committee, Pointing Out Also How the Rev. Dr. Gates, Manager of Rockefeller Charities, Appeared on the Scene.

Washington, Nov. 22.—According to testimony before the Stanley steel committee, John D. Rockefeller is really the genuine wizard of finance that most folks think he is. The tale of how Mr. Rockefeller is alleged to have manipulated a call loan so as to acquire for less than one million dollars wonderful ore properties in Minnesota worth several hundred million dollars was unfurled to the committee by Albert Merritt of Duluth, Minn., who described himself as a "simple lumberjack" and who claimed he had been mighty well trimmed on Wall street. The Rev. Dr. Gates, manager of the Rockefeller charities, was the man who put the deal through. Charles H. Martz of St. Heloise, Minn., the engineer who built the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern railroad, of which Mr. Merritt was the first president, helped to enlighten the committee concerning Mr. Rockefeller's Minnesota operations.

At one point in the hearing, when George Wellwood Murray, counsel for Mr. Rockefeller, flatly denied Witness Merritt's statement that Rockefeller had secured the incalculably valuable railroad and ore properties through a call loan manipulation, the committee in open session decided to summon Mr. Rockefeller to appear at once and give his testimony. But recollecting the agreement that bound the committee to await the decision of its entire membership before proceeding with the investigation beyond hearing those witnesses already summoned, decided to wait before finally determining whether or not to call Mr. Rockefeller. If Merritt produces some papers that the committee is anxious to obtain it is quite possible that Mr. Rockefeller will not be pestered by a subpoena. This may save the committee some mortal strain.

As a result of the mass of details contributed to the committee by Merritt and Engineer Martz, it appears that Mr. Merritt, his brothers, cousins, uncles, aunts, nieces and nephews were financially interested in the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern railroad, of which Merritt was president and of which only a portion had been constructed in 1891. They were able to get ore from the big Mesaba field to Lake Superior by a traffic arrangement with another railroad, but they wanted all the carriage for themselves. But in order to build their extension from Columbia Junction to the lake to supplement their line from the ore fields to the Junction, they had to have money. Both Merritt and Martz insisted that the first proposition to help them along came from John D. Rockefeller, who loaned the Merritts upward of a million dollars, of which, according to witness, $420,000 was in a call note. His story was that, although Mr. Rockefeller had promised him plenty of time on this loan, the demand was made upon him during the panic days of '93 and that he must produce the $420,000 within twenty-four hours or lose all the collateral he had put up, which consisted of stock in his railroad and in his ore properties. He was not able to raise the money, and Mr. Rockefeller, he says, closed him out. He added, with emphasis, that it was Gates who had persuaded him to give Rockefeller a mortgage on his otherwise clear properties and to accept the call loan.

"Why didn't you get a time loan?" asked Representative Gardner.

"Well," replied Merritt, with an extremely gloomy expression, "I think I was used in the way they generally use western men in New York."

"In other words," suggested Mr. Gardner, "you had an assurance from the Rev. Dr. Gates that the call loan did not mean what it meant."

"Yes," replied the witness with resignation, "and I believed that Baptist preacher."

"I see," said Mr. Stanley, "that the Rev. Mr. Gates was serving both the Lord and John D. Rockefeller."

"Yes, indeed," declared the witness, with entire approval.

Chairman Stanley asked Mr. Merritt how it was that, owing as much valuable railroad and ore property as he did, it was impossible for him to borrow the necessary $420,000 to meet the Rockefeller call loan.

"Those were in panic days," said Mr. Merritt, "and nobody had much money. Besides, I think that Rockefeller had said, 'Hands off, that fellow is my meat,' and so nobody would lend me anything at all."

Representative Jack Beal of Texas tried to simplify the proposition "Doesn't it come to this," he inquired "before you began negotiations with Rockefeller you had stock in your railroad and ore properties, and when you got through you did not?"

"That's exactly it," cried the witness with the first enthusiasm he had shown during the hearing.

There is Only One "Bromo Quinine" That is Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c.

E. W. Grove

How Kaffirs Smoke Opium

Kaffirs who have a craving for that curse of the east, opium, are becoming very numerous, and they have a curious method of smoking the drug. Having made a suitable hole in the ground, they insert in this a bottle with its neck and its bottom knocked off. The neck part of the bottle is left above ground; the lower part is buried. In the space between the end of the bottle and the bottom of the hole are placed, first live coals and then the opium. A tube connects the "bowl" of the pipe and the "mouthpiece," passing underground to emerge some two yards from the "bowl." The men take a draw at this curious pipe in turns, and it is their habit, on some occasions, to eject the smoke at one another, together with a mouthful of water.

"Come In Out of the Wet."

Silly Billy wants a kiss, sitting in the rain. Why should she deny him this? Answer's very plain: Can the fire of love be warm (heed my language—mark!) With the wetness of the storm putting out the spark? Some folks never know enough to escape the wet; Sit around and say, "It's tough!"—doomed to vain regret. Store is full and stock is fine, still nobody buys. Come inside and cease to pine. Secret: ADVERTISE!

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE FIRE and TORNADO INSURANCE FIDELITY and SURETY BONDS BURGLARY INSURANCE GEORGE W. OSBORNE.

140 Main Street

Telephone 1336

Don't Run Around

If your home is destroyed by fire trying to save money from your friends if your property is uninsured. "A friend in need is a friend indeed," and you will find us the friend that has the money ready and willing to loan you. No delay. Household goods, pianos, teams, etc., is good security. Easy weekly or monthly payments. Loans on real estate solicited.

WALTER E. SMITH, ATTORNEY

Phone 1318 Rooms 1 and 2

Rushville National Bank Building

WE HAVE ON HAND

Choice High Grade Bonds

Paying the Highest Income Consistent With Safety

FOR SALE AT MARKET PRICES

Rush County National Bank

THE DAILY REPUBLICAN

Office: Northwest Corner of Second and Perkins Streets, RUSHVILLE, INDIANA.

Entered at the Postoffice at Rushville, Ind., Postoffice as Second-class Matter.

TELEPHONE NUMBER, 1111.

Published Daily except Sunday by THE REPUBLICAN COMPANY,

Wenesday, November 22, 1911.

THIS PAPER REPRESENTS THE INTERESTS OF THE COMMUNITY IN ALL THE PRINCIPAL CITIES

it begins to look as though the secret of the birds had been attained. Their experiments down in North Carolina, this week, make good their claim that ninety-nine per cent. of the money expended in aeroplanes had been wasted, so far as the science of aviation is concerned. It is evident that they, of all the aviators, are the real students of the aviation problem as they were the originators of successful aeroplane flying.

Notwithstanding the Indianapolis Sun's assertion to the contrary, the editor of this paper stands pat on his statement that "Socialism is rampant only in large cities." This fact is patent to all observers. The Republican said nothing about the late election results. These are understood by it as well as by the editor of the Sun. That the editor of the Sun has been a malcontent for some time is also patent to all the newspaper men of this State, and it is only logical that he take sides with those harboring the delusive heresy of Socialism.

Queen Mary has started a crusade against the deadly hat pin. Why not get some revenue for the government by fining the women $2 for every eye they scratch out?

The Butcher Boy Says:

"BE CONTENTED"

"Be contented" is a good phrase; but our boy does not mean that you should be contented with poor meat. Buy your meat here and you will be contented, knowing that you are getting the best meat to be found anywhere. The best is none to good and you can not afford to eat poor meat at any price.

Phone 1569

H. A. KRAMER

MONUMENTS

MONTELO RED AND MILLSTONE GRAY GRANITES

Extreme hardness of these materials produce inscriptions that are legible for an indefinite period of time. We have on display at our works, 117-121 Main street, the largest and finest stock of Monuments and accessories in this section.

SPECIAL DESIGNS. Our draftsman's time and efforts are yours for the asking.

J. B. SCHRICHTE & SONS

"The Bank of England"

You know what that stands for in the financial world. Well what the Bank of England means to financial interests,

"Clark's Purity Flour"

means to flour buyers and users, on account of its "ABSOLUTE RELIABILITY"

LOANS, ABSTRACTS OF TITLE AND INSURANCE

WE GIVE YOU THE BEST SERVICE

LOUIS C. LAMBERT & COMPANY

OFFICE: Old Rushville National Bank Building

It looks as if some of our trust magnates had got to begin life all over again with only a pittance like a million a year.

Col. Roosevelt remarks that the Tobacco trust has only changed its clothes. But if its trousers don't match its coat and vest we are perfectly satisfied.

We are not confident that jailing the packers would make them any better, but if they could be fed on some of the beefsteak we had this morning, we feel sure they would be good in the future.

The library of Harvard University has 1,590,000 volumes, and as every Harvard student has read them all through, some one should supply them with a lot of new books to keep them out of mischief.

Col. Roosevelt calls the men who want to restore competition "rural Tories." "If he talks that way the rural Tories living around Oyster Bay will decline to haul in his usual supply of rosy winter apples.

Although we are theoretically convinced that foot ball is a rude game, yet at heart we shall not feel sure that the world is growing better until we learn that the Yale-Harvard foot ball game has come out right.

Mrs. Winifred Cooley told the Women's Clubs that women could improve the quality of food if they had the ballot. The things Mother used to make, however, were done without the aid of voting.

Now that the Wall street brokers are actually seen reading T. R.'s pieces in the Outlook, we expect soon to hear that a stand has been opened for the sale of the Sunday School Times in Hell.

Wellesley college girls are shining shoes at the college fair. Now if this could be made a part of the regular course, we believe we could without our objections to our daughters' attending college.

Mayor Shank, of Indianapolis, is being pretty well advertised, and much that is commendatory of his efforts to reduce the cost of living appears in the public press. The Frankfort News approves of his selling potatoes, pears, etc., but declares that he will "never really meet the situation until he put in a full line of millinery."

The Ladies Aid of Hammeigan Christian church will serve an oyster supper with ice cream and cake at Osborn's school house Friday night, November 24. 21814

WANTED—Every man, woman and child in Rush county, having pictures to frame to bring them to us first and get our prices and see our selection of moldings. Our new Xmas stock has arrived and is now ready for your inspection. All kinds of fine framing a specialty. The G. P. McCarty Co. 21816

Let us decorate your dining room or parlor elegantly before the Thanksgiving dinner or the Xmas dinner at furthest. We will guarantee to save you just one-half over our own regular prices by doing the work at this time of the year. It will really pay you to see us and investigate our prices. Our decorators and designers are unexcelled and we guarantee every customer full satisfaction. Phone us and we will gladly be at your service. The G. P. McCarty Co. 21816

Thanksgiving and Christmas Cards Free

Beautifully Colored and Embossed

I want to send free to every reader of the Daily Republican 10 beautiful, imported, embossed, colored Thanksgiving post cards, all different, without any advertising on them whatever.

I do this because I want people to know the high grade cards I carry at manufacturers' prices. If you prefer beautiful Christmas or New Years cards say so when you write. All I ask is that you send me 4 cents in stamps to cover postage, etc. Address C. T. Jonhstone, Pres., Dept. 89., Rochester, N. Y. 21814

Thanksgiving and Christmas Cards Free

Beautifully Colored and Embossed

I want to send free to every reader of the Daily Republican 10 beautiful, imported, embossed, colored Thanksgiving post cards, all different, without any advertising on them whatever.

I do this because I want people to know the high grade cards I carry at manufacturers' prices. If you prefer beautiful Christmas or New Years cards say so when you write. All I ask is that you send me 4 cents in stamps to cover postage, etc. Address C. T. Jonhstone, Pres., Dept. 89., Rochester, N. Y. 21814

EDITORIALETTES.

The happy thought of the day is the editor of this column gets married today. Yes he is still nervous.

Nervous, as we get it, is the vulgar expression for being on the qui vive.

They say that the fellow who always waits until December first, had better change his mind and them, too.

For the benefit of our worthy contemporary we would explain that the Beech Grove school house, which is located about two miles southwest of the city, has been abandoned for a number of years which reveals the fact that their explanation of the famous bloody cap mystery was very much on the bunk order. No surely, it was not a school boy's fight.

But it's not likely that the fellows who owned the cap will ever call for it since his headgear has received so much publicity.

"Death Chair For Beattie Tested" are the startling headlines in yesterday's newspapers. We presume, if that be possible that the death-chair could not be tested to any great degree of satisfaction to the chief testers unless a man were given the bolts that Beattie will get.

You may have noted Luther Sherry was injured in an auto-traction collision in Connersville one day recently. We have been searching the prints but so far have been unable to discover whether Madam Sherry was damaged to any extent.

We learn today by the Greensburg Evening News that's our new name, (thank you,) that Minnie Bowman filed a ten thousand dollar damage suit against the Milroy Drain Tile Company two weeks ago.

But really Isadore, because a man is successful "fish" merchant, it is no sign that he has a net income.

A man never begins to blame a woman for his downfall until somebody has found him out. —Chicago Record-Herald.

FROM THE SUBURBS.

The Yellow Streak.

A man never begins to blame a woman for his downfall until somebody has found him out. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Isn't it So?

Most anyone might be addressed insane if the court would permit the introduction of old love letters. —Youngstown (O.) Telegram.

Too Much to Endure.

Sometimes it seems as if we could stand any assault upon our reputation except a triumphant vindication at the hands of the United States senate. —Ohio State Journal.

No Chance!

Man hardly gets through straightening himself up from the holiday expenditures before the soda water fountains begin to dizzle and his doom is again sealed. —Baltimore Sun.

A Cheap Bunch.

It must jar those Illinois Democrats to think that they put a senator over at cut rates compared with the Wisconsin quotation. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

Under the Recall.

Anyhow, we do not gain the impression that the Southern Pacific railroad is ruling California as of yore. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

Work Still a Necessity.

No soil is good enough to make money without considerable work. —Athenian Globe.

Co-Operative Society.

One thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven men have been indicted in Adams county, Ohio, for selling their votes, and nobody seems as yet, to have been able to find out who bought them. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Positively Indecent.

A Massachusetts scientist asserts that he has discovered a method for photographing thought. What a moving picture show he might get up by exhibiting what is going on in many democratic minds just now. —Troy Times.

Those Wild Oats.

Personally we have never grown any beets or tomatoes equal to those that are pictured in the seed catalogues, but we have grown some weeds that the seed catalogue artists would look on with despairing admiration. —Boston Globe.

Waste.

Transmutation is a wonderful thing. The amount of straw that it takes to feed a billy goat for a week can be made into $4,000 worth of millinery. —Houston Post.

When the Test Comes.

The boy that Burbank is to grow into a luxuriant human being will have to be screened with poultry wire about the time he begins to look at girls. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Sees His Finish.

In his latest pictures Champ Clark has the resigned amen countenance, minus the hallelujah smile. —Atlanta Constitution.

An Exception Noted.

Mr Bryan says that the newspapers shouldn't print stories of crimes, but how much advertising would he ever have received if they hadn't played up that one of '73. —Washington Post.

No Aid to Cowards.

A gun or a knife never made a coward a brave man. An armed coward is more afraid than a brave man unarmed. —Athenian Globe.

The Only Way.

Advice to girls: If you are going to marry a man to reform him, include an ax in your trousseau. —Galveston News.

Piano Tuning

I will be at the Scanlan House this week. Please leave all orders there. 21814 F. W. PORTERFIELD.

Rummage Sale and Exchange

The Ladies of the St. Paul M. E. church will hold a rummage sale and exchange in the Beale room above Johnson's drug store Saturday, Nov. 25. 21813

C. W. B. M. Market

The Plum Creek C. W. B. M. will give a market at Mrs. Wolcott's millinery store in Main street Saturday, November 25. 21813

Five Weeks to Christmas

You Know the Rush In the Last Days. Spare Yourself by Shopping Early.

Looting the Family Purse

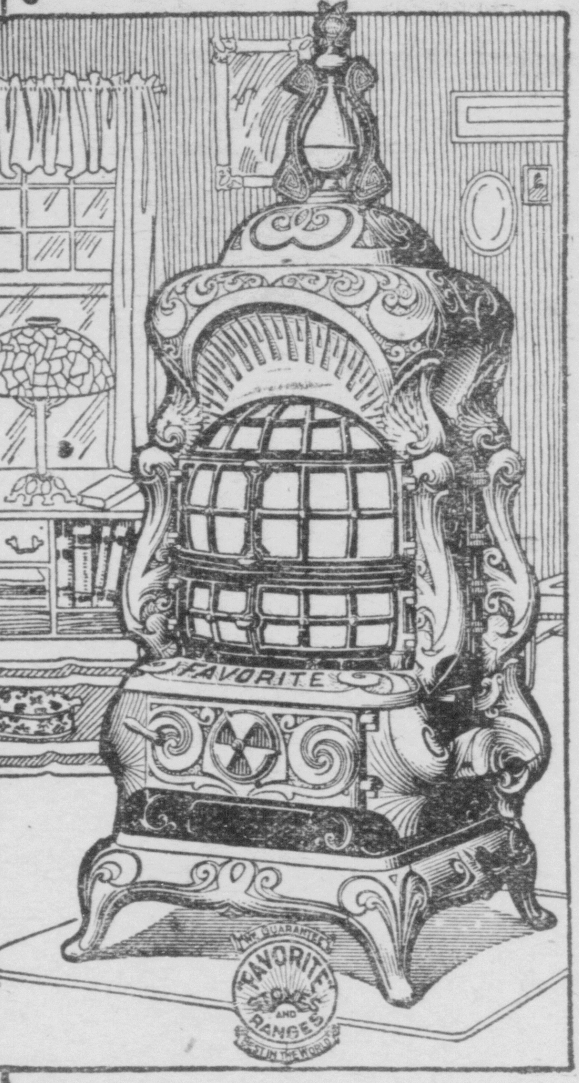

When you once pay the bill for a table or bed, the matter is closed as far as expense is concerned.

But with a stove, the first cost is only a beginning---a trifling amount when you consider the cost of the fuel that stove will consume during its lifetime.

There are a lot of heating stoves that loot the family purse---burn twice as much fuel as a FAVORITE BASE BURNER would require to do the same amount of work.

The Favorite saves one-half on coal bills and throws out more heat. There is no other Base Burner like it, for the features that make it such a wonderful and economical heater are patented.

Don't put up with the wastefulness and extravagance of a cheap stove. Buy a FAVORITE BASE BURNER. It will save you money every day it is in use, and bring such comfort and satisfaction, too.

G. P. HUNT, Rushville, Ind.

We're Ready To Show You

Everything that is new and correct for this season in shoes for everybody. We have endeavored to make our styles so attractive and our values so big that all who see will want to buy.

Take our advice and try a pair of Ralston or Stetson Shoes for Men and John Foster Shoes for women who care. Even if they do cost fifty cents or a dollar more, it will be comfort to you and money in your pocket.

Ben A. Cox, The Shoe Man

"We Fit Where Others Fail"

CAN YOU IMAGINE

a more delightful time to talk of that little business affair than over your good cigars and coffee, and after the excellent luncheon we can serve you? You are assured, of quiet, elegance and perfect service when you patronize us.

Eagle Cafe

South Court House. Meals 25c

J. W. Gaheimer Cordially Invites You to visit the Show Room at the

Fisher-Gibson Garage

416-424 N. Capital Boulevard, Auto Row, Indianapolis, Indiana,

Nov. 22nd to 25th Inclusive

where he will be glad to demonstrate to you from the modest priced Brush to the elaborately equipped Limousine. The World Famous Silent Knight Motor we offer in the Stearns four cylinder and the Stoddard six cylinder. Also have the large working model of the Knight Motor which shows the actual working of this motor. After a careful investigation we have selected for 1912 the Overland, the Everett, Stearns, Knight, The Stoddard and the Brush from the field of Gasoline Cars. Special attention to all visitors during show week. No obligations incurred by calling or receiving demonstration. Investigate our cars before you invest.

Address me at Manilla, Indiana, or Call Bell Phone

Palace Theatre

Clifford & Thatcher, Managers

"The Millionaire and the Squatter"—Essanay
"THE BIG DAM"—EDISON
Edwin Biddle Will Sing Tonight

Monday and Tuesday, December 5th and 6th, "David Copperfield"

5c ADMISSION 5c
 CHILDREN UNDER SIX FREE

Coming and Going

—Will Mulno visited in Indianapolis today.

—Miss Norma Smith spent the day in Indianapolis.

—Dr. W. H. Smith visited in Indianapolis today.

—Mrs. Will Meredith spent the day in Indianapolis.

—Ward Hackleman returned to Indianapolis this morning after a visit here.

—Connersville News: Miss Nora McCoy, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cain, returned to her home at Rushville today.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alva Newhouse spent yesterday in Indianapolis and saw Eddie Foy in "Over the River" at English's last night.

—Mrs. Joe Cowing was a visitor in Indianapolis today.

—Miss Minnie Beale visited in Indianapolis today.

—John Kiplinger was a visitor in Indianapolis today.

—Mrs. Jesse Stone visited in Indianapolis today.

—Mrs. A. P. Wellman of New Salem was a visitor in Indianapolis today.

—Mrs. Charles Baker, Mrs. Will Bowen and Miss Rexie Vance attended the funeral of Clark John in Manila today.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hepp of Shelbyville came today for the Nentzenhelzer-Harrod wedding which will take place tonight.

—R. F. Scudder transacted business in Crawfordsville today.

—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Colvin were theater goers in Indianapolis last night.

—Dr. F. G. Hackleman attended the Scottish Rite convocation in Indianapolis today.

—Mrs. George Aultman and Mrs. Nora Lore went to Rockville today for a two days' stay.

—Miss Lou Greenawalt of Dayton, Ohio, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Greenawalt.

—Mr. and Mrs. Riley Alexander of Indianapolis are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Major Griffin in Griffin station.

Half a dozen of the advantages claimed for the new Soyer System of Cooking in Paper Bags, briefly put, are—

1. It makes every dish more savory and nutritious.
2. It is economical; the food weighs practically the same when drawn from, as when put in, the oven.
3. It is labor saving—no cleaning of pots or pans.
4. It is hygienic—no germ-haunted cooking utensils.
5. No smell of cooking—the bag is sealed with a common metal clip, such as is used by business men in offices.
6. It saves fuel, and, therefore, money.

SOCIETY NEWS

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist church met this afternoon with Mrs. John Meredith in North Harrison street.

The Utopia club will be entertained by Mrs. Leonard Clark at her home in Harrison street tomorrow afternoon.

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Neutzenhelzer and Roy E. Harrod will take place tonight at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neutzenhelzer, in North Morgan street.

Miss Mary Durrell entertained at dinner Sunday at her home southwest of the city the following guests: The Misses Leona Ruddell, Edith and Hazel Gibson, Merial and Merial Phillips, Letta and Nellie Brannan, and Messrs. Chase Ruddell, Ed Berry and Fred Stewart.

Peter Mauzy entertained the following guests today at dinner in honor of his eighty-fourth birthday: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Cline, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Newhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Greeley P. Mauzy and Miss Grace Mauzy and Jesse Cline.

WOODS ARE FULL.

Hunters say the woods are full of 'possums, and not a few skunks have been found. There are very few fur-bearing animal hunters in this county any more, though there is a good market for all kinds of furs.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to William W. Mull and Maggie Pearl Dearing.

A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Franklin E. Ramsey and Goldie C. Adkinson.

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to Harrod Alexander and Louise Green.

The sale at the J. W. Hogsett store which opened this morning attracted a large crowd and twenty-five extra employees have been retained.

McCarty's have an elegant line of fine Colonial mirrors left from last Xmas trade that they are going to put on sale AT COST while they last. Nothing more appropriate for an Xmas present. They are beautiful and up-to-date in every way. Ask to see them. All sizes and styles and at about one-half the price elsewhere.

Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly
 Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large 2 oz. packages, 5 cents.

RECEPTION HELD FOR NEW MINISTER

The First Baptist Church Welcomed the Rev. J. F. Arvin, Who Recently Came Here.

ALL CHURCHES REPRESENTED

A large crowd attended the reception given at the First Baptist church last evening in honor of the new pastor, the Rev. J. F. Arvin. All of the churches of the city were represented and a hearty welcome was given the Rev. Mr. Arvin, who recently moved here from Crothersville. The Rev. A. W. Jamieson gave a short talk and was followed by the Rev. J. B. Meacham who pleased the children with his remarks. The Rev. Mr. Arvin responded. The Rev. W. H. Wylie was ill and unable to attend. A note of regret was read. The Rev. Cyrus Yocum was also unable to be present. Ice cream and cake was served and the evening was most enjoyably spent.

RECORD PRICE.

Mrs. Everett Piper, living south of the city sold sixty-five turkeys today to Clifford Benings of Gowdy. The price ranged from 15 to 16 cents per pound and Mrs. Piper received $120.98 for her trouble. This is the record price so far this year.

JOHN DYKE ARRESTED.

John Dyke was fined one dollar and costs on the charge of drunkenness this morning in police court. The fine was stayed. Dyke was arrested last night by Policeman Wolters.

Best by Test, Fair Promise 5c Cigar

PORTOLA

SOME PLACE TO GO

"The Three Brothers"

Brotherly Devotion and Unity in the Midst of the terrible Storms and Suffering in the Klondike Region

"The Lighthouse By the Sea"

A Powerful Story of the Sea

TOMORROW

Merchant's Benefit
 J. Walter Wilson in Character Work

5c ADMISSION 5c

New Princess

A Big City Show—Neat and Clean

SPECIAL

"The Worlds Championship Baseball Series"

Athletic vs. Giants. If you like Baseball don't miss this great picture.

Another Good Picture

Watch For Specials

Nothing Cheap But the Price

5c ADMISSION 5c

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess will show the Essanay "World's Championship Base Ball" pictures again tonight. The picture is a good one and shows the scenes both at the Polo grounds and the Athletics' park. One of the features is the home run drive of Baker, who brings Collins in from second base ahead of him. All the base ball celebrities of the world are shown, including the National Commission, Connie Mack and Mugsy McGraw. Another good picture will be on the program.

The Portola will show an unusually good western drama tonight in the story of "The Three Brothers." The lure of gold in the western gold fields sometimes yields a harvest other than that of dollars. In this case it developed brotherly love and unity to a higher degree among three brothers, who were already devoted. It is said to be a beautiful picture giving one vast western scenes, snow-clad stretches, and views to be long remembered. The other film is an Edison, "The Light-house by the Sea." It is a powerful story of the sea. Tomorrow night the theater will be given over for the merchants' benefit performance. J. Walter Wilson will put on a monologue sketch.

"The Millionaire and the Squatter" is the title of the Essanay picture at the Palace tonight. It is a beautiful piece of wild land that the millionaire bought and the squatter refused to vacate his cabin. The marshal gets the drop on him and his furniture was thrown out. It is the part the squatter's daughter plays that gives human beauty to the picture. The other is an Edison entitled "The Big Dam." The "Holy City" pictures pleased large crowds again last night as they were about the best ever seen here and the management is to be congratulated on getting such a good program. Edwin M. Biddle will make his initial appearance here tonight with his vocal solos. He comes highly recommended.

Edgar Selwyn's comedy, "The Country Boy" will be the attraction at English's Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee. The story has to do with a young man of the rural districts who goes to New York to win fame and fortune, leaving behind a good home, a fond mother and a girl who loves him. In the city the young man loses sight of the ambition, is ensnared in the meshes of an unscrupulous woman who calmly bids him begone when his money is exhausted and his business ruined, and begins to contemplate suicide. At this moment he is befriended by a newspaper man, who succeeds in restoring the young man's self-respect and enthusiasm. Together the two repair to the boy's country home, where they start life over again and the "country boy" returns to his old

Raymond NERVE AND LIVER Pills

ONE OF THE MOST

Pleasant Cathartics

PURELY VEGETABLE

For Constipation, Biliousness, Torpid Liver
 For Constipation Headache.

10c BOTTLES 25c

"The Store for Particular People."

Hargrove & Mullin Druggists Quality First

love.

In the east are Ethel Clayton, Helen Hilton, Carolyn Elberts, H. Dudley Hawley, George Wright, Walter Allen and others.

The theater has never offered a more sensationally successful play than "The Girl in the Taxi," which is scheduled for an engagement at the Auditorium Theatre, Connersville, Friday night.

"The Girl in the Taxi" was written with the sole purpose of making people laugh. This it has been doing beyond the greatest expectations. In Paris it created a sensation and ran for 1,000 nights. In Berlin it scored an unqualified success and broke records with its popularity. In New York in the Astor theater it repeated its foreign triumphs. In Chicago at the Cort Theater it packed a theater for 250 performances and carried off all honors for phenomenal attendance and box-office business. In Boston it captivated public and press and played to overflowing audience at the Tremont Theater for three months. No play of recent years has achieved so great a triumph and it will be many years before this triumph is equalled, if ever.

"The Girl in the Taxi" boasts of no tears, but if you wish to enjoy the hearty laugh of your life, this is the play to evoke it.

PUBLIC SALE

Specials for Tomorrow

10:00 to 10:30 a. m.
 10c Dress Gingham, 10 yards to a customer, per yard 6c
 11:00 to 11:30 a. m.
 25c Cars Williams, Colgate, and Mennen's Talcum Powder, 2 cans to a customer 11c
 11:30 to 12:00
 12½c Embroidery, 10 yards to a customer, per yard 7c
 2:00 to 2:30 p. m.
 10c Outing, per yard, 10 yards to a customer 7c

HOGSETT'S STORE

On Sale For a Limited Time Only

A Full Size Bottle of Dr. Hebra's
Blood, Liver and Nerve Tonic and a 25c Box of

Dr. Hebra's Ungoid

You Get Both for

25c

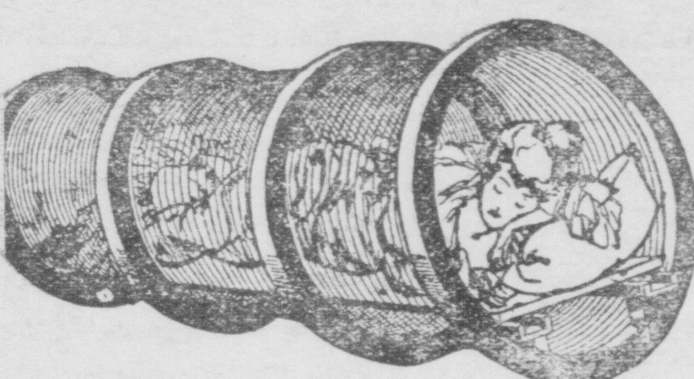

This Distribution is for Advertising Purposes Only.

Regular Price, $1.25

At Lytle's Drug Store Only
 REXALL

TELEVIRA

THE WONDER WORKER

For the treatment of Coughs, Colds,
 Bronchial and
 Lung Affections,
 Nervousness,
 Neuralgia,
 Rheumatism,
 Kidney, Bladder
 and Stomach Troubles and other ailments.

TELEVIRA has created wonderful interest in Indianapolis and vicinity. It is a combination of massage, electricity, heat, vibration, light and ozone. In cases of afflictions of the lungs, throat, stomach, bowels, skin, liver and for nervous diseases, Televira has met with startling success. It is undoubtedly the acme or highest point attained by the learned medical men of the age, and by the judicious blending of that life-giving fluid—Electricity—with the tried and true medicines, an efficacious remedy, as well as prevention, has been given to the medical fraternity for the betterment of mankind.

TELEVIRA, the Latest Offering of Science to Sufferers

Almost beyond belief are the stories of relief from suffering as told by reliable persons in the columns of the press; yet true in every particular, for these prominent people who heartily endorse the Televira Treatment, have given signed permission to use their names and will verify every statement made. So great was their surprise and joy at the wonderful relief they experienced, they felt as though they owed a solemn duty to mankind to spread the joyful news that a system of treatment has arisen superior to ordinary methods and that diseased conditions rapidly disappear before the marvelous Televira.

The Televira Institute is now located in Indianapolis. It is in charge of a Medical Director who, besides being highly capable, will treat your case in sacred confidence. He takes up each case separately and gives his most thorough attention.

Do not delay longer. Get in touch with us today. The thousands of seemingly hopeless cases which the Televira Institute has benefited is certainly proof that there is hope for you. Come in at once and find out if we can aid you.

Consultation and Examination Free.

Institute Hours: 9 a. m. to 4, and 6 to 8 p. m.; Sundays, 9 to 12.

TELEVIRA INSTITUTE 440 North Pennsylvania St.
 Indianapolis, Indiana

Christmas Gifts

There is nothing that makes a nicer Christmas Gift than one of our

Hand Painted Calendars

which we are now showing, ranging in price from

From 10c to $1.00

Hand Painted Pictures

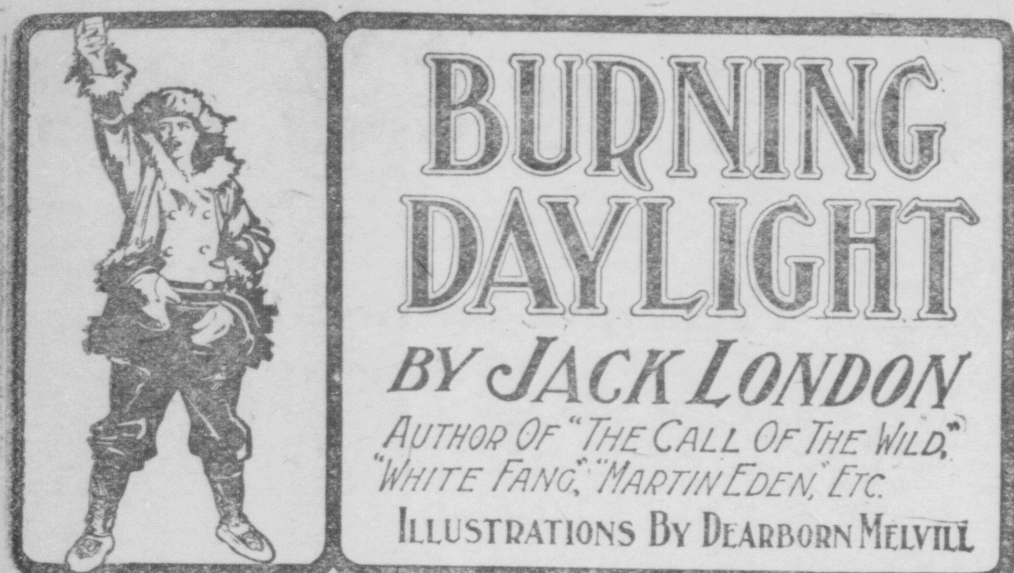

in Water Colors made to order. Any study you may desire from $1.00 up.

We make a specialty of High Class PICTURE FRAMING any size, any price. Leave your orders now and avoid delay.

F. B. Johnson & Co.

Drugs, Wall Paper Paints and Window Shades
 FREE DELIVERY PHONE NO. 1408

CHAPTER XVII.

For six weeks hand-running Daylight had seen nothing of Dede except in the office, and there he resolutely refrained from making approaches. But by the seventh Sunday his hunger for her overmastered him. It was a stormy day. A heavy south-east gale was blowing, and squall after squall of rain and wind swept over the city. He could not take his mind off her, and a persistent picture came to him of her sitting by a window and sewing feminine fripperies of some sort. When the time came for his pre-luncheon cocktail to be served to him in his room, he did not take it. Filled with a daring determination, he glanced at his note-book for Dede's telephone number, and called for the switch.

At first it was the landlady's daughter who was raised, but in a minute he heard the voice he had been hungry to hear.

"I just wanted to tell you that I'm coming out to see you," he said. "I didn't want to break in on you without warning, that was all."

"Has something happened?" came her voice.

"I'll tell you when I get there," he evaded.

She came herself to the door to receive him and shake hands with him. He hung his mackintosh and hat on the rack in the comfortable hall and turned to her for direction.

"They are busy in there," she said, indicating the parlor, from which came the boisterous voices of young people, and through the open door of which he could see several college youths. "So you will have to come into my rooms."

She led the way through the door opening out of the hall to the right, and, once inside, he stood awkwardly sootied to the floor, gazing about him and at her and all the time trying not to gaze. In his perturbation he failed to hear and see her invitation to a seat.

"Won't you sit down?" she repeated. "Look here," he said, in a voice that shook with passion, "there's one thing I won't do, and that's to propose to you in the office. That's why I'm here. Dede Mason, I want you, I just want you."

So precipitate was he, that she had barely time to cry out her involuntary alarm and to step back, at the same time catching one of his hands as he attempted to gather her into his arms.

"Oh, I know I'm a sure enough fool," he said. "I—I guess I'll sit down. Don't be scared, Miss Mason. I'm not near dangerous."

"I'm not afraid," she answered, with a smile, slipping down herself into a chair.

"It's funny," Daylight sighed, almost with regret: "here I am, strong enough to bend you around and tie knots in you. Here I am, used to having my will with man, beast or anything. And here I am sitting in this chair, as weak and helpless as a little child."

RESTORE GRAY HAIR TO NATURAL COLOR

By Common Garden Sage, a Simple Remedy for Dandruff, Falling, Faded, Gray Hair.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. One grandmother at the age of seventy-five, whose hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of soiling quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself how quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin.

Don't Spoil Your Clothes

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and keep them white as snow. All grocers, 5 cents a package.

lamb. You sure take the starch out of me."

"I—I wish you hadn't asked," she said softly.

"Mebbe it's best you should know a few things before you give me an answer," he went on, ignoring the fact that the answer had already been given. "I never went after a woman before in my life, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The stuff you read about me in the papers and books, about me being a lady-killer, is all wrong. There's not an iota of truth in it. I guess I've done more than my share of card-playing and whiskey-drinking, but women I've let alone. There was a woman that killed herself, but I didn't know she wanted me that bad or else I'd have married her—not for love, but to keep her from killing herself. She was the best of the boiling, but I never gave her any encouragement. I'm telling you all this because you've read about it, and I want you to get it straight from me."

"I can't marry you," she said. "I like you a great deal, but—"

He waited a moment for her to complete the sentence, falling which, he went on himself.

"I haven't an exaggerated opinion of myself, so I know I ain't bragging when I say I'll make a pretty good husband. You could follow your own sweet will, and nothing would be too good for you. I'd give you everything your heart desired."

"Except yourself," she interrupted suddenly, almost sharply. "Don't you see?" she hurried on. "I could have far easier married the Elam Harnish fresh from Klondike when I first laid eyes on him long ago, than marry you sitting before me now."

He shook his head slowly.

"That's one too many for me. The more you know and like a man the less you want to marry him. Familiarity breeds contempt—I guess that's what you mean."

"No, no," she cried, but before she could continue, a knock came on the door.

His eyes, quick with observation like an Indian's, darted about the room while she was out. The impression of warmth and comfort and beauty predominated, though he was unable to analyze it; while the simplicity delighted him—expensive simplicity, he decided, and most of it left-overs from the time her father went broke and died.

She re-entered the room, and as she crossed it to her chair, he admired the way she walked, while the bronze slippers were maddening.

"I'd like to ask you several questions," he began immediately. "Are you thinking of marrying somebody else?"

"There isn't anybody else. I don't know anybody I like well enough to marry. For that matter, I don't think I am a marrying woman. Office work seems to spoil me for that."

"It strikes me that you're the most marryingest woman that ever made a man sit up and take notice. And now another question. You see, I've just got to locate the lay of the land. Is there anybody you like as much as you like me?"

But Dede had herself well in hand. "That's unfair," she said. "And if you stop and consider, you will find that you are doing the very thing you disclaimed—namely, nagging. I refuse to answer any more of your questions. Let us talk about other things. How is Bob?"

Half an hour later, whirling along through the rain on Telegraph Avenue toward Oakland, Daylight smoked one of his brown-paper cigarettes and reviewed what had taken place. It was not at all bad, was his summing up, though there was much about it that was baffling. There was that liking him the more she knew him and at the same time wanting to marry him

That was a puzzler.

Once again, on a rainy Sunday, weeks afterward, Daylight proposed to Dede. As on the first time, he restrained himself until his hunger for her overwhelmed him and swept him away in his red automobile to Berkeley. He left the machine several blocks away and proceeded to the house on foot. But Dede was out, the landlady's daughter told him, and added, on second thought, that she was walking in the hills. Furthermore, the young lady directed him where Dede's walk was most likely to extend. Daylight obeyed the girl's instructions, and soon the street he followed passed the last house and itself ceased where began the first steep slopes of the open hills. The air was damp with the on-coming of rain, for the storm had not yet burst, though the rising wind proclaimed its imminence. As far as he could see, there was no sign of Dede on the smooth, grassy hills. To the right, dipping down into a hollow and rising again, was a large, full-grown eucalyptus grove. (Here all was noise and movement, the lofty, slender-trunked trees swaying back and forth in the wind and clashing their branches together. In the squalls, above all the minor noises of creaking and groaning, arose a deep thrumming note as of a mighty harp. Knowing Dede as he did, Daylight was confident that he would find her somewhere in this grove where the storm effects were so pronounced. And find her he did, across the hollow and on the exposed crest of the opposing slope where the gale smote its fiercest blows.

"It's the same old thing," he said. "I want you and I've come for you. You've just got to have me, Dede, for the more I think about it the more certain I am that you've got a sneaking liking for me that's something more than just ordinary liking. And you don't dare say that it isn't; now dast you?"

"Please, please," she begged. "We can never marry, so don't let us discuss it."

Daylight decided that action was more efficient than speech. So he stepped between her and the wind and drew her so that she stood close in the shelter of him. An unusually stiff squall blew about them and thrummed overhead in the tree-tops, and both paused to listen. A shower of flying leaves enveloped them, and hard on the heel of the wind came driving drops of rain. He looked down on her and on her hair, wind-blown about her face; and because of her closeness to him and of a fresher and more poignant realization of what she meant to him, he trembled so that she was aware of it in the hand that held hers. She suddenly leaned against him, bowing her head until it rested lightly upon his breast. And so they stood while another squall, with flying leaves and scattered drops of rain, rattled past. With equal suddenness she lifted her head and looked at him.

"Do you know," she said, "I prayed last night about you. I prayed that you would fall, that you would lose everything—everything."

Daylight stared his amazement at this cryptic utterance.

"That sure beats me. I always said I got out of my depth with women, and you've got me out of my depth now. Well, you've just got to explain, that's all."

His arms went around her and held her closely, and this time she did not resist. Her head was bowed, and he could not see her face, yet he had a premonition that she was crying. He had learned the virtue of silence, and he waited her will in the matter. Things had come to such a pass that she was bound to tell him something now. Of that he was confident.

"I would dearly like to marry you," she faltered, "but I am afraid. I am proud and humble at the same time that a man like you should care for me. But you have too much money. There's where my abominable common sense steps in. Even if we did marry, you could never be my man—my lover and my husband. You would be your money's man. I know I am a foolish woman, but I want my man for myself. And your money destroys you; it makes you less and less nice. I am not ashamed to say that I love you, because I shall never marry you. And I loved you much when I did not know you at all, when you first came down from Alaska and I first went into the office. You were my hero. You were the Burning Daylight of the gold-diggings, the daring traveler and miner. And you looked it. I don't see how any woman could have looked at you without loving you—then. But you don't look it now. You, a man of the open, have been cooping yourself up in the cities with all that means. You are becoming something different, something not so healthy, not so clean, not so nice. Your money and your way of life are doing it. You know it. You haven't the same body now that you had then. You are putting on flesh, and it is not healthy flesh. You are kind and genial with me, I know, but you are not kind and genial to all the world as you were then. You have become harsh and cruel. I do love you, but I cannot marry you and destroy love. You are growing into a thing that I must in the end despise. You can't help it. More than you can possibly love me, do you love this business game. This business—and it's all perfectly useless, so far as you are concerned—claims all of you. I sometimes think it would be easier to share you equitably with another woman than to share you with this business. I might have half of you, at any rate. But this business would claim, not half of you, but nine-tenths of you, or ninety-nine hundredths. You hold back nothing; you put all you've got into whatever you are doing—"

"Dede Mason, I Want You, I Just Want You."

husband. You could follow your own sweet will, and nothing would be too good for you. I'd give you everything your heart desired."

"Except yourself," she interrupted suddenly, almost sharply. "Don't you see?" she hurried on. "I could have far easier married the Elam Harnish fresh from Klondike when I first laid eyes on him long ago, than marry you sitting before me now."

He shook his head slowly.

"That's one too many for me. The more you know and like a man the less you want to marry him. Familiarity breeds contempt—I guess that's what you mean."

"No, no," she cried, but before she could continue, a knock came on the door.

His eyes, quick with observation like an Indian's, darted about the room while she was out. The impression of warmth and comfort and beauty predominated, though he was unable to analyze it; while the simplicity delighted him—expensive simplicity, he decided, and most of it left-overs from the time her father went broke and died.

She re-entered the room, and as she crossed it to her chair, he admired the way she walked, while the bronze slippers were maddening.

"I'd like to ask you several questions," he began immediately. "Are you thinking of marrying somebody else?"

"There isn't anybody else. I don't know anybody I like well enough to marry. For that matter, I don't think I am a marrying woman. Office work seems to spoil me for that."

"It strikes me that you're the most marryingest woman that ever made a man sit up and take notice. And now another question. You see, I've just got to locate the lay of the land. Is there anybody you like as much as you like me?"

But Dede had herself well in hand. "That's unfair," she said. "And if you stop and consider, you will find that you are doing the very thing you disclaimed—namely, nagging. I refuse to answer any more of your questions. Let us talk about other things. How is Bob?"

Half an hour later, whirling along through the rain on Telegraph Avenue toward Oakland, Daylight smoked one of his brown-paper cigarettes and reviewed what had taken place. It was not at all bad, was his summing up, though there was much about it that was baffling. There was that liking him the more she knew him and at the same time wanting to marry him

That was a puzzler.

Once again, on a rainy Sunday, weeks afterward, Daylight proposed to Dede. As on the first time, he restrained himself until his hunger for her overwhelmed him and swept him away in his red automobile to Berkeley. He left the machine several blocks away and proceeded to the house on foot. But Dede was out, the landlady's daughter told him, and added, on second thought, that she was walking in the hills. Furthermore, the young lady directed him where Dede's walk was most likely to extend. Daylight obeyed the girl's instructions, and soon the street he followed passed the last house and itself ceased where began the first steep slopes of the open hills. The air was damp with the on-coming of rain, for the storm had not yet burst, though the rising wind proclaimed its imminence. As far as he could see, there was no sign of Dede on the smooth, grassy hills. To the right, dipping down into a hollow and rising again, was a large, full-grown eucalyptus grove. (Here all was noise and movement, the lofty, slender-trunked trees swaying back and forth in the wind and clashing their branches together. In the squalls, above all the minor noises of creaking and groaning, arose a deep thrumming note as of a mighty harp. Knowing Dede as he did, Daylight was confident that he would find her somewhere in this grove where the storm effects were so pronounced. And find her he did, across the hollow and on the exposed crest of the opposing slope where the gale smote its fiercest blows.

"It's the same old thing," he said. "I want you and I've come for you. You've just got to have me, Dede, for the more I think about it the more certain I am that you've got a sneaking liking for me that's something more than just ordinary liking. And you don't dare say that it isn't; now dast you?"

"Please, please," she begged. "We can never marry, so don't let us discuss it."

Daylight decided that action was more efficient than speech. So he stepped between her and the wind and drew her so that she stood close in the shelter of him. An unusually stiff squall blew about them and thrummed overhead in the tree-tops, and both paused to listen. A shower of flying leaves enveloped them, and hard on the heel of the wind came driving drops of rain. He looked down on her and on her hair, wind-blown about her face; and because of her closeness to him and of a fresher and more poignant realization of what she meant to him, he trembled so that she was aware of it in the hand that held hers. She suddenly leaned against him, bowing her head until it rested lightly upon his breast. And so they stood while another squall, with flying leaves and scattered drops of rain, rattled past. With equal suddenness she lifted her head and looked at him.

"Do you know," she said, "I prayed last night about you. I prayed that you would fall, that you would lose everything—everything."

Daylight stared his amazement at this cryptic utterance.

"That sure beats me. I always said I got out of my depth with women, and you've got me out of my depth now. Well, you've just got to explain, that's all."

His arms went around her and held her closely, and this time she did not resist. Her head was bowed, and he could not see her face, yet he had a premonition that she was crying. He had learned the virtue of silence, and he waited her will in the matter. Things had come to such a pass that she was bound to tell him something now. Of that he was confident.

"I would dearly like to marry you," she faltered, "but I am afraid. I am proud and humble at the same time that a man like you should care for me. But you have too much money. There's where my abominable common sense steps in. Even if we did marry, you could never be my man—my lover and my husband. You would be your money's man. I know I am a foolish woman, but I want my man for myself. And your money destroys you; it makes you less and less nice. I am not ashamed to say that I love you, because I shall never marry you. And I loved you much when I did not know you at all, when you first came down from Alaska and I first went into the office. You were my hero. You were the Burning Daylight of the gold-diggings, the daring traveler and miner. And you looked it. I don't see how any woman could have looked at you without loving you—then. But you don't look it now. You, a man of the open, have been cooping yourself up in the cities with all that means. You are becoming something different, something not so healthy, not so clean, not so nice. Your money and your way of life are doing it. You know it. You haven't the same body now that you had then. You are putting on flesh, and it is not healthy flesh. You are kind and genial with me, I know, but you are not kind and genial to all the world as you were then. You have become harsh and cruel. I do love you, but I cannot marry you and destroy love. You are growing into a thing that I must in the end despise. You can't help it. More than you can possibly love me, do you love this business game. This business—and it's all perfectly useless, so far as you are concerned—claims all of you. I sometimes think it would be easier to share you equitably with another woman than to share you with this business. I might have half of you, at any rate. But this business would claim, not half of you, but nine-tenths of you, or ninety-nine hundredths. You hold back nothing; you put all you've got into whatever you are doing—"

"Dede Mason, I Want You, I Just Want You."

husband. You could follow your own sweet will, and nothing would be too good for you. I'd give you everything your heart desired."

"Except yourself," she interrupted suddenly, almost sharply. "Don't you see?" she hurried on. "I could have far easier married the Elam Harnish fresh from Klondike when I first laid eyes on him long ago, than marry you sitting before me now."

He shook his head slowly.

"That's one too many for me. The more you know and like a man the less you want to marry him. Familiarity breeds contempt—I guess that's what you mean."

"No, no," she cried, but before she could continue, a knock came on the door.

His eyes, quick with observation like an Indian's, darted about the room while she was out. The impression of warmth and comfort and beauty predominated, though he was unable to analyze it; while the simplicity delighted him—expensive simplicity, he decided, and most of it left-overs from the time her father went broke and died.

She re-entered the room, and as she crossed it to her chair, he admired the way she walked, while the bronze slippers were maddening.

"I'd like to ask you several questions," he began immediately. "Are you thinking of marrying somebody else?"

"There isn't anybody else. I don't know anybody I like well enough to marry. For that matter, I don't think I am a marrying woman. Office work seems to spoil me for that."

"It strikes me that you're the most marryingest woman that ever made a man sit up and take notice. And now another question. You see, I've just got to locate the lay of the land. Is there anybody you like as much as you like me?"

But Dede had herself well in hand. "That's unfair," she said. "And if you stop and consider, you will find that you are doing the very thing you disclaimed—namely, nagging. I refuse to answer any more of your questions. Let us talk about other things. How is Bob?"

Half an hour later, whirling along through the rain on Telegraph Avenue toward Oakland, Daylight smoked one of his brown-paper cigarettes and reviewed what had taken place. It was not at all bad, was his summing up, though there was much about it that was baffling. There was that liking him the more she knew him and at the same time wanting to marry him

That was a puzzler.

Once again, on a rainy Sunday, weeks afterward, Daylight proposed to Dede. As on the first time, he restrained himself until his hunger for her overwhelmed him and swept him away in his red automobile to Berkeley. He left the machine several blocks away and proceeded to the house on foot. But Dede was out, the landlady's daughter told him, and added, on second thought, that she was walking in the hills. Furthermore, the young lady directed him where Dede's walk was most likely to extend. Daylight obeyed the girl's instructions, and soon the street he followed passed the last house and itself ceased where began the first steep slopes of the open hills. The air was damp with the on-coming of rain, for the storm had not yet burst, though the rising wind proclaimed its imminence. As far as he could see, there was no sign of Dede on the smooth, grassy hills. To the right, dipping down into a hollow and rising again, was a large, full-grown eucalyptus grove. (Here all was noise and movement, the lofty, slender-trunked trees swaying back and forth in the wind and clashing their branches together. In the squalls, above all the minor noises of creaking and groaning, arose a deep thrumming note as of a mighty harp. Knowing Dede as he did, Daylight was confident that he would find her somewhere in this grove where the storm effects were so pronounced. And find her he did, across the hollow and on the exposed crest of the opposing slope where the gale smote its fiercest blows.

"It's the same old thing," he said. "I want you and I've come for you. You've just got to have me, Dede, for the more I think about it the more certain I am that you've got a sneaking liking for me that's something more than just ordinary liking. And you don't dare say that it isn't; now dast you?"

"Please, please," she begged. "We can never marry, so don't let us discuss it."

Daylight decided that action was more efficient than speech. So he stepped between her and the wind and drew her so that she stood close in the shelter of him. An unusually stiff squall blew about them and thrummed overhead in the tree-tops, and both paused to listen. A shower of flying leaves enveloped them, and hard on the heel of the wind came driving drops of rain. He looked down on her and on her hair, wind-blown about her face; and because of her closeness to him and of a fresher and more poignant realization of what she meant to him, he trembled so that she was aware of it in the hand that held hers. She suddenly leaned against him, bowing her head until it rested lightly upon his breast. And so they stood while another squall, with flying leaves and scattered drops of rain, rattled past. With equal suddenness she lifted her head and looked at him.

"Do you know," she said, "I prayed last night about you. I prayed that you would fall, that you would lose everything—everything."

Daylight stared his amazement at this cryptic utterance.

"That sure beats me. I always said I got out of my depth with women, and you've got me out of my depth now. Well, you've just got to explain, that's all."

His arms went around her and held her closely, and this time she did not resist. Her head was bowed, and he could not see her face, yet he had a premonition that she was crying. He had learned the virtue of silence, and he waited her will in the matter. Things had come to such a pass that she was bound to tell him something now. Of that he was confident.

"I would dearly like to marry you," she faltered, "but I am afraid. I am proud and humble at the same time that a man like you should care for me. But you have too much money. There's where my abominable common sense steps in. Even if we did marry, you could never be my man—my lover and my husband. You would be your money's man. I know I am a foolish woman, but I want my man for myself. And your money destroys you; it makes you less and less nice. I am not ashamed to say that I love you, because I shall never marry you. And I loved you much when I did not know you at all, when you first came down from Alaska and I first went into the office. You were my hero. You were the Burning Daylight of the gold-diggings, the daring traveler and miner. And you looked it. I don't see how any woman could have looked at you without loving you—then. But you don't look it now. You, a man of the open, have been cooping yourself up in the cities with all that means. You are becoming something different, something not so healthy, not so clean, not so nice. Your money and your way of life are doing it. You know it. You haven't the same body now that you had then. You are putting on flesh, and it is not healthy flesh. You are kind and genial with me, I know, but you are not kind and genial to all the world as you were then. You have become harsh and cruel. I do love you, but I cannot marry you and destroy love. You are growing into a thing that I must in the end despise. You can't help it. More than you can possibly love me, do you love this business game. This business—and it's all perfectly useless, so far as you are concerned—claims all of you. I sometimes think it would be easier to share you equitably with another woman than to share you with this business. I might have half of you, at any rate. But this business would claim, not half of you, but nine-tenths of you, or ninety-nine hundredths. You hold back nothing; you put all you've got into whatever you are doing—"

"Dede Mason, I Want You, I Just Want You."

husband. You could follow your own sweet will, and nothing would be too good for you. I'd give you everything your heart desired."

"Except yourself," she interrupted suddenly, almost sharply. "Don't you see?" she hurried on. "I could have far easier married the Elam Harnish fresh from Klondike when I first laid eyes on him long ago, than marry you sitting before me now."

He shook his head slowly.

"That's one too many for me. The more you know and like a man the less you want to marry him. Familiarity breeds contempt—I guess that's what you mean."

"No, no," she cried, but before she could continue, a knock came on the door.

His eyes, quick with observation like an Indian's, darted about the room while she was out. The impression of warmth and comfort and beauty predominated, though he was unable to analyze it; while the simplicity delighted him—expensive simplicity, he decided, and most of it left-overs from the time her father went broke and died.

She re-entered the room, and as she crossed it to her chair, he admired the way she walked, while the bronze slippers were maddening.

"I'd like to ask you several questions," he began immediately. "Are you thinking of marrying somebody else?"

"There isn't anybody else. I don't know anybody I like well enough to marry. For that matter, I don't think I am a marrying woman. Office work seems to spoil me for that."

"It strikes me that you're the most marryingest woman that ever made a man sit up and take notice. And now another question. You see, I've just got to locate the lay of the land. Is there anybody you like as much as you like me?"

But Dede had herself well in hand. "That's unfair," she said. "And if you stop and consider, you will find that you are doing the very thing you disclaimed—namely, nagging. I refuse to answer any more of your questions. Let us talk about other things. How is Bob?"

Half an hour later, whirling along through the rain on Telegraph Avenue toward Oakland, Daylight smoked one of his brown-paper cigarettes and reviewed what had taken place. It was not at all bad, was his summing up, though there was much about it that was baffling. There was that liking him the more she knew him and at the same time wanting to marry him

That was a puzzler.

Once again, on a rainy Sunday, weeks afterward, Daylight proposed to Dede. As on the first time, he restrained himself until his hunger for her overwhelmed him and swept him away in his red automobile to Berkeley. He left the machine several blocks away and proceeded to the house on foot. But Dede was out, the landlady's daughter told him, and added, on second thought, that she was walking in the hills. Furthermore, the young lady directed him where Dede's walk was most likely to extend. Daylight obeyed the girl's instructions, and soon the street he followed passed the last house and itself ceased where began the first steep slopes of the open hills. The air was damp with the on-coming of rain, for the storm had not yet burst, though the rising wind proclaimed its imminence. As far as he could see, there was no sign of Dede on the smooth, grassy hills. To the right, dipping down into a hollow and rising again, was a large, full-grown eucalyptus grove. (Here all was noise and movement, the lofty, slender-trunked trees swaying back and forth in the wind and clashing their branches together. In the squalls, above all the minor noises of creaking and groaning, arose a deep thrumming note as of a mighty harp. Knowing Dede as he did, Daylight was confident that he would find her somewhere in this grove where the storm effects were so pronounced. And find her he did, across the hollow and on the exposed crest of the opposing slope where the gale smote its fiercest blows.

"It's the same old thing," he said. "I want you and I've come for you. You've just got to have me, Dede, for the more I think about it the more certain I am that you've got a sneaking liking for me that's something more than just ordinary liking. And you don't dare say that it isn't; now dast you?"

"Please, please," she begged. "We can never marry, so don't let us discuss it."

Daylight decided that action was more efficient than speech. So he stepped between her and the wind and drew her so that she stood close in the shelter of him. An unusually stiff squall blew about them and thrummed overhead in the tree-tops, and both paused to listen. A shower of flying leaves enveloped them, and hard on the heel of the wind came driving drops of rain. He looked down on her and on her hair, wind-blown about her face; and because of her closeness to him and of a fresher and more poignant realization of what she meant to him, he trembled so that she was aware of it in the hand that held hers. She suddenly leaned against him, bowing her head until it rested lightly upon his breast. And so they stood while another squall, with flying leaves and scattered drops of rain, rattled past. With equal suddenness she lifted her head and looked at him.

"Do you know," she said, "I prayed last night about you. I prayed that you would fall, that you would lose everything—everything."

Daylight stared his amazement at this cryptic utterance.

"That sure beats me. I always said I got out of my depth with women, and you've got me out of my depth now. Well, you've just got to explain, that's all."

His arms went around her and held her closely, and this time she did not resist. Her head was bowed, and he could not see her face, yet he had a premonition that she was crying. He had learned the virtue of silence, and he waited her will in the matter. Things had come to such a pass that she was bound to tell him something now. Of that he was confident.

COUGHING AT NIGHT

BAD FOR CHILDREN — HARD ON PARENTS

Stop it with

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND

Acts quickly and has a healing and soothing effect on the inflamed membranes. All coughs have a tendency to grow worse at night. Children with whooping cough and bronchitis always cough worse at night and a cold in the head with tickling in the throat and coughing grows worse at bed time. FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND will stop the coughing and soothe the irritation in the throat. Contains no opiates, does not constipate, is the best and safest for children and delicate persons.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.
F. B. JOHNSON AND COMPANY

Paper Bag Cookery Will Revolutionize Cooking

BY MARTHA McCULLOCH WILLIAMS

When Soyer's paper bag method of cooking was first brought to my attention by friends, who, rightly or wrongly, seem to have a high opinion of my abilities as a cook, I admit that I was skeptical of its practicability. Indeed, I was more than that—I was rather firm in my belief that it could not prove out. But I was induced to put the system to a trial—and, lo and behold!—the very first trial made me an enthusiastic follower of M. Soyer. Since then I have been doing all my cooking by the Soyer method, and each succeeding day more than ever convinces me that any woman, simply by following Soyer's general directions, and using that good common sense and care which are essential to all good cooking, can master the Soyer paper bag method of cooking in a very short time, and will find it a great boon both to herself and to all the members of her household.

DON'T WAIT SO LONG

One of the most surprising things in the world to druggists is that so many people endure unnecessary suffering and trouble.

Every day they hear people say, "I have been feeling so weak and miserable for the last few months that I finally decided to come and ask you what to do for it."

For instance, Miss Zulah Teagarden, of Connellsville, Pa., says in a letter: "For years I had been in bad health owing to run-down system and general weakness. I had no appetite, was tired out, and had no strength."

"Hearing so much about Vinol I decided to try it, and I find it the greatest of all remedies. It has built up my strength, restored my appetite, and made me as well as ever. I might just as well have had this benefit years ago if I had taken Vinol then."

Now if you are weak and in poor health, don't wait another day, but let Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil, make you strong. We guarantee it—you get your money back if not satisfied. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists Rushville, Ind.

How to Save Your Hair.

Keep scalp and hair clean and free from dandruff with Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo Cream. The hair treatment recommended by the Duchess of Marlborough, Mme Melba and many others. 25c. a tube at F. B. Johnson & Co. and other druggists.

"I am so pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of and safest remedy for coughs, colds and bronchial trouble," writes Mrs. L. B. Arnold of Denver, Colo. "We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief." For sale by all dealers.

The best plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one tenth as much. For sale by All Dealers.

Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

Practically every advantage that M. Soyer claims for his paper bag method of cookery over the present greasy pot and pan system of cooking I have found by actual experience to prove out. But as M. Soyer himself says with engaging candor, "The success of the system depends entirely on how it is carried out. Some people have imagined that all I urge amounts to a general use of the bag in place of the ordinary saucepan, without any attention to the conditions that are essential to good cooking. Good cooking requires time, care, attention to detail, taste and a temperature suited to the particular dish being cooked. The paper bag does not abrogate any of the rules that apply to efficient work at the kitchen table."

It is true, beyond peradventure of doubt, that paper bags will never cook a fine meal off their own bat, as it were; but my experience has taught me that the bags, plus a moderate use of brains, a trifle of experience and a certain deftness of manipulation that comes with experience, will unquestionably simplify the problem of living by lessening sensibly the cost and the drudgery of the kitchen. The use of the bags must be learned the same as any other art of the kitchen, but, I repeat, to the housewife who brings common sense to bear upon the matter the time of learning will be surprisingly brief.

Following M. Soyer's general directions for paper bag cookery, I speedily learned that there are sundry commandments to be observed while pursuing his method of cooking.

The first and greatest of these is to get the right bag, which is made especially for cooking, is paraffined, odorless even when crumpled, crisp, sanitary and to be had in sizes big enough to hold a Thanksgiving turkey or tiny enough for a single chop.

Next, nearly as important, is to grease the bag inside liberally, using lard, oil, drippings or a very fat rind of bacon Grease thoroughly—it is the dry spots which crisp, crack, leak and make trouble. But beware laying a bag empty of all but grease in the hot oven to spread the grease.

Even a few seconds of heat make the bag cracky and hard to handle. Use soft grease, whatever the sort, rubbing it on with the fingers. Mops and butter brushes can be used, but they do the work less completely.

Further, proportion your bag size to what it is destined to hold. The closer the fit of bag and contents, the better, and the more even and compact and lay of the food, the less trouble in handling. Fold over the open end at least three times and fasten with strong wire clips. If, perforce, the bag is too big, cut off the end and then fold over the end. Also, I have found it very satisfactory to fold and clip empty corners, although this is not essential to success. Where bag and food touch the paper holds its texture, whereas in empty single ply spaces it crimps rather easily and is likely to break at a touch.

Use a footed wire broiler, or very open grid shelf, in the oven. All paper bag cooking is done in the oven.

If a gas oven, it must be lighted eight to ten minutes before putting in the food and kept at blazing heat until the bag corners sear lightly; then slacken the heat a third or even half throughout the rest of the time of cooking.

Be sure to lay the bags in the oven with the seam uppermost, especially if water has been put inside. Seams will steam open now and then—if the opening is downward there will be a leakage and much bother. In event of a leak, either set a pan underneath to catch the drip or lift out the shelf and bag and slip the latter, with its contents, into a bigger bag, freshly greased.

A well greased bag can lie for some time without damage, but as soon as it is filled with food it should be set to cooking. Have a care in placing it—once cooking begins, it must "stay put" till it is ended. With several bags requiring snuff room, lay the first of them at the farther back corner, so as just to miss the oven wall. If the contents are heavy, and especially if they are burgy, do not try to shove the bag across the shelf bars—ease it in upon them by putting either a broad flat basting spoon handle underneath or a clean bit of shingle, using it as a baker uses his peel. If the grid shelf can be filled at once, take it out of the stove, arrange the bags compactly upon it and set it again in place. But take care not to handle it roughly, and, above all, not to let the bags slip or slide.

A general direction for heat in paper bag cooking is to have it at full head when the cold bag is put in the oven, close the door and open it after two minutes. If the bag corners then show decided scorching, slack the heat moderately for three or four minutes longer and then diminish it half.

On the heat question, it is well to bear in mind (as the case of pot and pan cooking) that not only does heat vary, under varying weather conditions, but the effects of it as well. Every cook knows the difference a muggy, stifling day makes in cake baking, in making candy, preserves, jellies, and so on. Also that potatoes bake much quicker are of better flavor and mealer upon a clear, bracing day than upon one when drawing breath is a burden. So here, again, one must learn—the "know how" is as indispensable in paper bag cooking as in any other high art. Stoves have their vagaries, ranges likewise, even as the cooks who make use of them. Moreover, there is varying

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should be a Warning to Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable. His misfortune serves as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach. Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach. The result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain missing elements—to help to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomach, indigestion, and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Third and Main streets.

There is little danger from cold or from an attack of the grip except when followed by pneumonia, and this never happens when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. This remedy has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds and grip and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. For sale by all Dealers.

No Cascaret User Ever Has Headache

A 10 Cent Box Will Keep Your Liver Stomach and Bowels Clean, Pure and Fresh For Months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartics pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a ten cent box from your druggist means inside cleanliness and a clear head for months. Ask any of the millions of Cascaret users if they ever have headache.

fuel value to gas, coal and oil, depending somewhat on the grate, somewhat on the management and still more on subtle atmosphere conditions.

Finally, it is important to remember that all manipulation, seasoning and flavoring of food must be attended to before it is put in bags. There can be no stirring or tossing in the course of paper bag cooking. Nor must a bag be opened at any time during cooking; such action is absolutely unnecessary if directions are faithfully followed.

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

J. E. Parker, 2021 No. 10th St., Ft. Smith, Ark., says that he had taken many kinds of kidney medicine, but did not get better until he took Foley Kidney Pills. No matter how long you have had kidney trouble, you will find quick and permanent benefit by the use of Foley Kidney Pills. Start taking them now. F. B. Johnson.

Smoke FAIR PROMISE 5c Cigars

Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

WHY NOT

get all your little accounts straightened up and get on your feet? It is a constant worry to have a number of small bills, which you have to be paying on all the time. We will pay you enough money to pay off all these bills and some extra money, and you will have only ONE small payment to make each pay day. We will loan you $50.00 on Household Goods, Pianos, Wagons, Teams, etc., and your payment will be $1.20 per week for 50 weeks. Other amounts in proportion. We make loans in city and all surrounding towns and country. If you need money, fill out and mail to us the following blank and we will send a representative to you. Phone 1545.

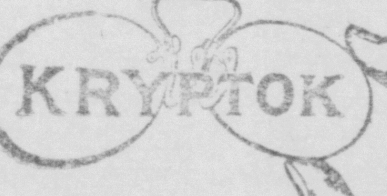

Your Name

Address

Richmond Loan Co.

Colonial Bldg., Room-8
Richmond, Ind.

EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT GLASSES FURNISHED

DR. F. G. HACKLEMAN

JURORS MOVED TO INDIGNATION

Basely Mistreated Girl's Story Arouses Pity.

REVEALS THE SHAMEFUL PLOT

Victim of Vile Machinations of Jealous Women Who Are Said to Have Spurred Their Degraded "Men Folks" on to Shameful Deed, Tells Jury in a Kansas Court the Story of Her Terrible Ordeal on Lonely Road.

Lincoln Center, Kan., Nov. 22.—Facing Edward Ricord, her decoy, and the three other men charged with complicity in the attack upon the young woman, Mary Chamberlain, the Shady Bend school teacher, took the witness stand and gave a recital of her terrible experience on the lonely roadway on the night of the now famous "tar party."

Miss Chamberlain told with minute detail the story that men and women in this and adjoining counties had both dreaded and eagerly waited for. Her demeanor for the most part was calm. Only once, when describing the manner in which her clothes were torn from her, did she threaten to break down, and then only for a moment.

Grasping at the rail of the witness box, her eyes fixed on her father and mother seated nearby, she told of the outrage, and of the feeling she experienced as the tar splashed against her bare skin.

"Why didn't you call for help?" she was asked.

"I did call. I screamed. But Ricord had hidden in the bushes nearby and did not appear until it was all over."

Miss Chamberlain related in detail the events of the summer night. She told of her "date" with Ed Ricord, the village "swell"; of his insistence that she accompany him; of his strange manner as they neared the rendezvous; of the sudden appearance of the masked men, who pointed a gun, afterward discovered to be a toy pistol, at the buggy; of her appeal to Ricord and his hasty retreat into the bushes; of being dragged to a huge bonfire, where three men stripped her and held her prostrate while the sticky mess was applied from a bucket.

"When it was all over the men left me," said the witness. "Ricord came out from his hiding place, helped me into my clothes, and, with the tar still dripping from me, we drove to my home."

She said not only her shoulders and limbs, but also her breast and arms were smeared with tar. Her clothing, she testified, was ruined.

"Did you get all of the tar off that night?"

"I did not, nor the next day."

She added that the treatment she received that night made her lame. She said she did not remember how she got back into the buggy, but Ricord accompanied her back to town.

Miss Chamberlain's testimony had a visible effect on her audience. The faces of the jurors, all but two of whom were married, showed pity for the witness and anger at the defendants was heard in all parts of the room.

Prosecutor McCannless asked the witness if she knew any of the men she met in the road.

"Yes, I recognized Sherrill Clarke, A. H. Simms and James Boose," she answered.

"Did these men tear your clothes?" asked Attorney Richie.

"No, sir."

After a few more questions the defense closed the cross-examination of Miss Chamberlain with the privilege of recalling her. The state then rested its case.

A murmur of indignation and disgust went through the crowded courtroom when a new feature of the attack on Miss Chamberlain was revealed in the testimony of Edward Ricord, who lured Miss Chamberlain to the scene of the "tar party."

Prodded on by sharp questioning, Ricord made known a part of the plot against the young woman that had not before become public. He said that the scheme of the conspirators was for him to get Miss Chamberlain out on the lonely country road and commit an assault on her close to the place where the masked gang was concealed. The members of the party were to be witnesses of the assault and were then to disclose themselves and apply a coat of tar to her as a punishment. None of this tar, of course, was to be applied to Ricord.

Ricord testified that Miss Chamberlain resisted his advances so vigorously and was so persistent in her demands that he turn the buggy around and drive her home that he was unable to carry out his part of the program. However, that was not allowed to interfere with the tar party.

Jealousy is said to have inspired the attack made on Miss Chamberlain, who is twenty-six years old. When the school at Beverly, her home, closed last summer, Miss Chamberlain went to Shady Bend to clerk in the store of L. V. Green, one of whose customers was a married man who passed much time at the Green store. Soon his wife grew jealous and quickly aroused the jealousy of other married women. At a "mothers' meeting" one afternoon, it is said, it was planned to have the young teacher tarred and feathered.

We Will Cure Any Case of

PILES

(HEMORRHOIDS.)

You Pay Nothing Unless We Cure You

We use no knife, chloroform or ether. Treatment at your home when preferred. Treatment painless, without loss of time. Consultation and examination free. We can give you the names of many Indianapolis people who will gladly testify to the permanency of our cures. If necessary sanatorium accommodations will be furnished.

If not convenient to call at office, Phone 1523 Main, Old New 4226-R.

OFFICE: Daily 9 to 12 a. m. 2 to 5 p. m. Sunday 9 to 12 a. m.

DRS. I. F. SMITH & J. H. ROSENBERG 504 Odd Fellow Bldg. Indianapolis, Ind.

Want Ad Department

SUBSCRIPTIONS WANTED—For the Farm and Fireside. Extra inducements offered. W. R. Marshall, R. R. 7, Arlington Phone. 21616

FOR SALE—Gas stove. Good as new. Sell cheap. Call phone 1487. 21366

FOR SALE—two soft coal stoves. 227 E. Second. Phone 1473. 21316

FOR SALE—58½ acres, 3 miles out on traction line, stop right at the house; 1¼ mile to school and church; 1 mile to elevator; like living in town; fine land; well improved; great bargain if sold soon. Elder & Cherry. 21515

FOR SALE—Dining room set and Roekers. Phone 1293. 21216

FOR SALE—17 mules, young and in fine condition, to trade in on tract of 40 to 50 acres of land and pay cash difference. Also several bargains in good Rushville properties. Call and see us for quick sale. Elder & Cherry. 21515

FOR SALE—car load of Stock cattle 800 pounds. Have just a few sheep left. R. J. Hall, R. R. 11. Blackledge farm. 1821f

FOR SALE—I have unloaded two car loads of fence posts, the best I ever unloaded. Line posts for 25c and 30c. Come and see me before buying. J. H. Robertson, Homer, Ind. Arlington phone. 215152

SUBSCRIPTIONS—Don't give your money to a stranger. Let Hargrove & Mullin attend to it for you. 188130

OLD PAPERS—Nice clean newspapers—5 cents a large bundle at The Daily Republican office. 21

DONT BUY GAS FIXTURES—Until you see display at Hargrove & Mullin. 1641f

FOR SALE—1 Garland Range. Good condition. Will burn wood, gas or coal. 705 North Morgan. 21613

LOST—a pair of gold framed glasses in the east commons on Arthur street. Finder please return to 524 N. Arthur and receive reward. Phone 1273. 21413

FOR SALE—a fine farm containing 211 acres; will be sold cheap if taken soon; has living spring and good stream of water; 500 rods new wire fence; two houses and two barns, one mile apart, which make it easy to divide in two places, known as Thomas H. Pond farm, one mile north of Andersonville. Call on or address Ida Pond, New Salem. Or John D. Megee, Rushville, Ind. 431f

NURSE—Mrs. J. H. Matthews, a practical nurse, has located at 602 North Morgan street and will answer promptly all calls. 21816

PIANO FOR SALE—A fine $300 Richmond Piano for $125. See Mrs. J. H. Carr, 419 W. Third St. 21712

LOST—a gentleman's diamond ring. Finder please return to Ray Lakin and receive reward. 21714

DUCKS—May Indian Runner ducks on foot at 50 cents each delivered. Francis Thatcher, Green & Green farm. Phone 3149. 21812

WANTED—Everyone to see our line of Picture Frame Molding before buying. F. B. Johnson & Co. 21616

FOR SALE—Ready made hog houses standard size. Cheaper than you can build them. Pinnell & Tompkins. Phone 1031. 2181f

FARMS FOR SALE—in Randolph county. I know I have the best farms and best bargains. Which do you want? 231 acres and 28 acres is on electric car line. Ask about the 200, 160, 120, 100, 80, 60, 54 and 166. Write me at once or come. Jack Barnes Winchester, Ind. 21714

FOR SALE—Household articles, kitchen furniture, two feather beds and other numerous articles, on Thursday, Nov. 23, at one o'clock p. m. 117 Gosnell Ave. 21712

THE MADDEN BROTHERS CO.

MACHINISTS

REPAIR WORK IS OUR SPECIALTY

Have your old Machinery repaired and made good as new. Steam and Gas Engine Repairing a Specialty. Call and see our St. Mary's Semi-Automatic Gas and Gasoline Engines before you buy. 2½, 4 and 7 Horse Power. Built for hard service on the farm.

We Grind and Sharpen Lawn Mowers, Mower/Sickles, Plow Points, Cutter Knives, etc

Phone 1632 517 to 519 W. Second St.

EVERY FACILITY
CONSISTENT LIBERALITY
MODERN METHODS

On this basis we hope to retain present patrons and invite new business.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT
Real Estate Mortgage Loans
EVERY ACCOUNT APPRECIATED

The Peoples Loan & Trust Co.
RUSHVILLE, INDIANA
"The Home for Savings"

Pure Buckwheat Flour

Rodman's Wholewheat Pancake Flour, Mrs. Austin's and Virginia Sweet Prepared Pancake and Buckwheat Flour, Pure Maple Syrup, Sorghum and Fine Orleans Molasses. Your choice of these with some Beechnut Bacon and a Cup of our Delicious Coffee, make an appetizing Breakfast.

L. L. ALLEN, Grocer

Phone 1420 327-329 N. Main St

Mr. Roy W. Jones

Requests the Honor of Your Presence at the

Ninth Annual Christmas Opening

of the

99 Cent Store

Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening

Music by Montana Bros. Harp Orchestra

SIXTY INVADE
NEIGHBORING CITY

Local Eastern Stars Find Hospitable
Welcome Sign on Mat at Connersville.

DEGREE WORK IS REVELATION

Sixty members of Martha Poe Chapter, No. 143, Order of Eastern Star, of this city, invaded Connersville last evening and they returned late at night with nothing but good impressions gained of the Connersville chapter, its degree team and its banquet. It was estimated yesterday afternoon that sixty would go to Connersville and just that number appeared at the I. & C. station last night at six o'clock to take the special car for Connersville.

The special car arrived in Connersville at six-thirty o'clock and at seven the local members who were guests of the Connersville chapter, were seated around the festive boards with a turkey banquet being served in several courses. The work of the Connersville degree team was a revelation to the local Eastern Star. A class of fourteen candidates was initiated. Anyway, Rushville Eastern Stars are for Connersville without their fingers crossed.

STATE IS READY FOR TRIAL

Wayne County Prosecutor Will Assist Dennis O'Neil.

Prosecutor Dennis O'Neil has returned from Connersville where he consulted with Prosecutor Edwards of Fayette county and Prosecutor Jessop of Wayne county on the case of the State vs. Osborne, which will be tried here starting Thursday. Edwards and Jessop will assist Prosecutor O'Neil for the State and arrangements for the trial are complete and according to Mr. O'Neil the State is ready for the trial. It is understood Mr. Jessop will take an active part.

Why buy packing house meats when you can have home dressed meats at H. A. Kramer's. We cure all our hams and bacon and boil our hams, no poison in them.

ACCIDENTS ARE ON THE DECREASE

Quarterly Bulletin of State Railroad Commission Just Issued Shows an Improvement.

SEVEN TRESPASSERS KILLED

Number of Passengers Injured in the Collisions 14 as Against 90 in Previous Quarter.

The Indiana railroad commission has issued its seventeenth quarterly accident bulletin, reviewing the steam and traction line accidents in the State for the quarter ending September 30.

Thirteen steam roads reported no accidents, a gain of three over the corresponding quarter of last year. The number of passengers injured in collisions was fourteen, as against ninety for the corresponding quarter last year. The number injured by derailments was increased from four to fifty-one, thirty-eight of the latter being injured in the Pennsylvania wreck at Ft. Wayne. Only one passenger was killed during the quarter, as against three a year ago. The victim, a woman, fell from a platform of a car while it was running over a bridge. The train was an excursion train from Chicago to Indianapolis.

Twenty-five persons in vehicles on highways were injured by steam roads, as against forty-three similarly injured a year ago. The total number struck on crossings was thirty-eight as against forty-eight a year ago. Sixty-seven trespassers were killed, as against eighty-six a year ago. The steam roads killed twenty-eight employees and the electric lines two.

The electric roads injured twenty-four passengers during the quarter, as against one hundred for the corresponding quarter last year. No passengers were killed as against a year ago, when the disastrous trolley wrecks in the northern part of the State occurred. Seven passengers were killed, as against twelve a year ago.

LOCAL NEWS

The funeral services of Clark L. John were held this morning in the Maunilla M. E. church. Burial took place in the church cemetery.

The Tarplee divorce suit which was sent from this county to the Shelby circuit court has been set down for trial in Shelbyville Tuesday, Jan. 2.

The women of the Moscow Christian church will serve supper Thanksgiving night at the church. The proceeds will go towards the church debt.

The funeral services of David Alexander were held this morning at the residence of Mrs. Jennie Foulton in West Tenth street. The remains were taken to Kentucky for burial.

The funeral services of Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Elder will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Pleasant Ridge church. Burial will take place in the church cemetery.

Milroy Press: Mrs. W. J. Turner, who has been seriously ill for a week, was taken to Sexton's sanatorium on Saturday and underwent an operation for a tumor Sunday morning. She rallied nicely and is doing well.

Elihu Price as administrator of the estate of Mary A. Seward filed a petition in the Rush circuit court yesterday afternoon against Stella M. Davis et al. to pay debts.

FINE ADVICE.

Shelbyville News: Any man that will drive a horse to town during these cold nights and tie him up to a post unblanketed, must not be offended if he finds his horse put away in a livery stable. He had better pay the bill and not cuss the officer, or he may lay himself liable to arrest for cruelty to animals.

THE MAUZY CO

PREPARATORY SALE

To make room for Christmas stock, we will offer some extraordinary bargains and sweeping reductions on nearly all goods not classed as gifts. Anticipate your wants now, as this is an opportunity to buy first class merchandise from the largest assortment in the city.

Ready to Wear Department
Second Floor
150 Ladies' Ladies' Tailored Suits
Wooltex and other high grade lines—made from choicest cloths and lined with the very best linings
All Offered at a Big Reduction
During This Sale

We have a big line of large size
Ladies' Suits, sizes 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46 and 47. About ladies who have trouble in securing suits, will find this their opportunity.
Come early.
Ladies specially priced coats,
$3.49, $4.98, $7.60, $9.99
Big bargains in Children's clothes, sized 8-10-12-14 years,
$2.50, $3.00 and $3.50.

50c Silk Poplin..... 39c
50c Silk Crepes..... 39c
29c Seco Silks..... 18c
50c Seco Silks..... 29c
59c Foulard Silks..... 39c
50c Fancy Taffeta Silks..... 33c
New bordered massalines, mar-quisette, crepe de chine, plain massalines and fancy dress silks at astonishing figures.

Choice Table Linen for Thanksgiving
Snowy Linens need not tax your purse unduly at these prices: SEE WINDOW.
59c Mercerized Damask at..... 39c
65c All Linen, 70 inch, 1/2 Bleached Linen..... 49c
$1.00 All-Linen, 72 inch Bleached..... 83c

Do not be misled by large posters filled to overflowing with hot air, announce-ing sales for 30 minutes only. Our advertised prices are as good tomorrow as they are today; NO! merely a taste to tempt you to partake heavily of the whole meal. You are thus accorded the privilege of trading deliberately and at your ease. We will gladly duplicate any advertised prices and in most cases do better.

The Corner
Store

SALE BEGINS WEDNESDAY

THE MAUZY CO.

The Daylight
Store

REVIVAL MEETING CLOSES

Fifty-Three Accessions to the Milroy
Christian Church.

The long and successful revival meeting which has been in progress at the Milroy Christian church, closed last night with a sermon on "At the Parting of the Ways," by the Rev.
A. W. Crabb, who has been conducting the revival, assisted by his wife and the pastor of the church, the Rev. Mr. Foster. There were fifty-nine additions to the church during the meeting. A reception to the new members was held in the church last night after the service. The singing of Mrs. Crabb, the wife of the evangelist, was a feature of every service.

Don't Spoil Your Clothes

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and keep them white as snow. All grocers, 5 cents a package.

FRESH BREAD FRESH MILK

PURE BUCKWHEAT FLOUR

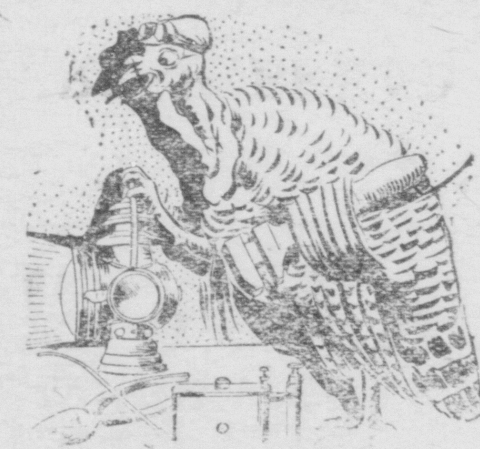

PICKLED PIGS FEET

NEW MACKEREL

FRED COCHRAN, Grocer,

105 W. First St.

Phone 3293

Get Those Auto Supplies

you need before Thanksgiving.
In fact you had better come here for them now. Then you won't start out needing a new horn, new lamps, the kit of tools, a supply of sparkling plugs, etc. We have all these and everything else your car needs. Stop in today. The longer you delay the more likely you are to forget.

WILLIAM E. BOWEN.
Phone 1364.

Haviland

Haviland

JUST RECEIVED

a portion of Haviland & Co.'s Samples from New York City.
Our line this year is without a doubt the largest we have ever tried to show and it comprises many rich and beautiful patterns.
We have on display more than one hundred different patterns in Dinner Plates, ranging in price from 25c to $1.50. More than one hundred different patterns in Cups and Saucers, ranging in price from 35c to $1.50. We also have a few of Haviland & Co.
Covered Bakers and Cassarols, which we will close out at 1/2 price.

Haviland

Haviland

Roasters for Thanksgiving

Savory Roaster
Aluminum Roaster

Reed's Roaster
National Roaster

Special
Agents

99 Cent Store

Special
Agents

KENNEDY & CASADY

Phone 1143

Pictorial Review Patterns

223 N. Main